COVID-HIT ECONOMY DID NOT FARE AS POORLY AS FEARED: NSO

Indian economy contracted only 6.6% in FY21 against earlier estimate of 7.3% , National Statistical Office said

FY20 REAL GDP GROWTH REVISED TO 3.7%

As per provisional estimates of May 2021, GDP had shrunk 7.3% during FY21 due to nationwide lockdown. In its revised data released on Monday, NSO also cut real GDP growth for FY20 to 3.7% against 4% estimated earlier. Under the first revision of January 2021, real GDP for FY20 was pegged at ₹145.69 lakh crore, showing 4% growth in 2019-20

CORE SECTOR GROWTH REBOUNDS

- Production of eight infrastructure sectors expanded by 3.8% in December 2021 against a 0.4% contraction in year-ago period
- Barring crude oil and steel, all sectors recorded growth in December, according to government data released on Monday
- Core sector industries had grown by 3.4% in November 2021

Cautious optimism in Survey on the economic growth story

8-8.5% growth seen for FY23 but oil rates, inflation and fresh pandemic waves could dampen the spirit

SUNITHA NATTI

IT's said that in economics, the majority is always wrong. The Economic Survey 2021-2022, in an unshowy way, attempts to tells us how.

Tabled in Parliament on Monday, the Survey, in a give-me-five tone glosses over the success of the government's Covid-19 policy response and how supply-side measures pulled us out of the economic blackhole. India is well placed to take on the challenges this year, it noted, yet the Survey's chief architect, Principal Economic Advisor Sanjeev Sanyal, settled for a conservative growth projection of 8-8.5% for FY23.

Better days ahead: CEA

Abatement of the pandemic would kick in virtuous cycle investment leading to job creation, newly appointed Chief Economic Advisor V Anantha Nageswaran said on Monday

Most macroeconomic indicators are pulsing with adrenalin, but the economy isn't antifragile yet and any of the several factors including geo-political tensions, rising crude oil prices, persistent inflation, further pandemic related economic disruptions, abnormal monsoon, or withdrawal of global liquidity could take away the punch bowl.

That said, the Survey dug into the data and the overall sketch makes one believe that India's growth fairy is back. From agriculture and allied sectors to industry to government expenditure to exports all are doing their bit, but two key components — consumption and investments — aren't within their aces. Unhelpfully, the Survey's foresight isn't letter perfect either.

Services sector has been the hardest hit. Worse, segments like travel, trade and hotels are still hostage to the stop-start nature of Covid-19 waves. Worryingly, advance estimates too suggest full recovery of all components on the demand side this fiscal, except for private consumption. Likewise, private investment recovery is nascent, but the new Chief Economic Advisor Dr Anantha Nageswaran concluded that all will be well by second half of FY23.

While better-than-budgeted tax collections, a sanitised banking system minus the overhang of bad loans, higher capital spending and a robust external sector all point to one thing: It'll be India's place in the Sun, soon.

For those who believe in it, the Survey's two-word summary is this: Hakuna matata... It means no worries; for the rest of your days. It's wackadoodle for those who don't.

Muslim student moves HC on headscarf ban

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Udupi

ONE of the Muslim students at Women's Government PU College in Udupi, who has been fighting for the right to wear the headscarf inside classrooms, has approached the Karnataka High Court. The student, Resham Farood, has petitioned the court to declare wearing hijab a fundamental right under Articles 25 and 14 of the Constitution.

Shathabish Shivanna, the advocate for the student, told The New Indian Express that he moved a memo for posting the petition before a bench of the High Court explaining the urgency as students are not being allowed to attend classes with headscarves. "The preliminary hearing may come up within a week," he said. An appeal has also been made to pass an interim order directing the college authorities to allow the students to attend classes till the final order is passed, he added.

On Monday, a meeting held to resolve the issue ended inconclusively as the development committee of the college and the students refused to change their stands.

CM HANDS OVER SITE DEEDS, COVID CHEQUES

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

PLAYING the Good Samaritan, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Monday distributed title deeds to beneficiaries under one lakh multi-storey housing scheme for the poor, and also handed over cheques to citizens who lost their family members to Covid in the first and second waves in Mahadevapura zone.

Admitting that the rules to allocate sites are complicated, Bommai said they would be simplified. "The state government will move in that direction, and allow the poor to own sites and homes," he added.

Under the housing scheme, being implemented by the Rajiv Gandhi Housing Corporation, 46,000 houses will be distributed. The CM instructed officials to ensure that title deeds of the remaining 64,000 houses too are distributed by December this year. "The beneficiaries should have a simple system of making payments in installments," he said.

Once all the title deeds are distributed and if it proves successful, one more project will be taken up, he added.

Instructing officials to plan a satellite township in Bengaluru with all the amenities for the poor, he said it should be self-sustainable with good connectivity and facilities. "It is imperative to provide housing in urban areas as it is difficult to own a site or a house cities and towns. It is a social challenge. A roof over one's head, food and water are important to lead a dignified life," he said.

The work on the construction of four lakh houses in rural areas, one lakh houses in urban areas and 97,000 houses in slums is being taken up and most of these projects are being executed under the Pradhan Mantri Awaas Yojana.

TN, K'taka spar over historic scripts now

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

IT is part of history that Gangas, Chalukyas and Hoysalas, coming from areas within the present Karnataka state, had waged wars against kingdoms of Tamil Nadu, like Cholas and Pandyas. But a conflict between the two states over scripts and documents concerning these dynasties and also other historical aspects came to a head on Monday in Mysuru, specifically at the Oriental Research Institute.

While the Tamil Nadu unit of Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) had been seeking priceless, original scripts written in Tamil and planning to move them from Mysuru to Chennai, the local office had been putting up stiff resistance. The tiff escalated to the highest level at ASI, and the Mysuru branch wrote stacks of letters to stall the move, but without much success, as it was proved on Monday.

A group of officials and specialised handlers and movers from New Delhi landed at the Mysuru office to ensure these prized imprints, which are also called estampages, are carried to Chennai. Sources from Mysuru ASI said, "They could have taken the copies if they needed anything. Why move the originals? All these historical documents can be digitised and shared with all the ASI units across the country," they lamented.

Now that the originals that delve into the history of the region are with the Tamil Nadu unit, it can take only selective portions and ignore parts that may not be of interest to them. "This would not be doing full justice to history. This is a matter concerning national heritage documents that belong to future generations and our agency is a mere custodian. Seeking documents pertaining to the language of the region sets a bad precedent as this would trigger a regional divide within the department," they said.

Anand Singh-DKS meet: Political circles abuzz

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

TOURISM Minister Anand Singh met KPCC president DK Shivakumar at the latter's residence here on Monday, triggering speculation over realignment of political forces ahead of the Assembly elections in the state in 2023.

Conspicuously, Anand Singh came in his private car, and not his official vehicle, for the closed-door meeting. Coming out of the meeting, he avoided talking to the media, adding to the mystery.

But Shivakumar, while speaking to reporters, maintained that he had called the minister to discuss about tapping the tourism potential in his Kanakapura Assembly constituency, especially at Mekedatu.

"At the Vijayanagara Assembly constituency, Anand Singh has conducted 'Tunga aarti' and I also wanted to conduct 'Arkavathi-Cauvery aarti' at Mekedatu. Our meeting was to work out a plan for the event.

> If it was a political meeting, we would have met at a guesthouse or a hotel. It is commonsense. Singh came here boldly and openly as I had called him for the meeting
> DK Shivakumar, KPCC president

Singh promised to send a team for assessment," Shivakumar said.

Asked as to why Singh came in his personal car, Shivakumar stressed that no politics was discussed. "If it was a political meeting, we would have met at a guesthouse or a hotel. It is common sense. Singh came here boldly and openly as I had called him for the meeting," the KPCC chief reasoned.

Asked about the development, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai shot back, saying the question should be posed to Anand Singh.

BJP sources said that party leaders have found it hard to stomach the high-profile meeting. P4

HC stays I&B ministry's ban on Kerala TV channel MediaOne

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kozhikode

MALAYALAM television channel MEDIAONE had to stop its telecast briefly on Monday after the Union information & broadcasting ministry revoked its licence citing lack of security clearance by the Union home ministry. The channel resumed services after the Kerala High Court deferred the order for two days and directed the additional solicitor general to take instruction from the Centre.

In response to an urgent petition by MediaOne, Justice N Nagaresh issued a notice to the ministry.

According to the I&B ministry, MediaOne — owned by Madhyamam Broadcasting Ltd and backed by the Jamaat-e-Islami — was granted permission on May 30, 2011 and it was valid till May 9, 2021. The channel had sought renewal for 10 more years but the I&B ministry declined saying the home ministry had not given the mandatory security clearance.

The decision drew strong reactions from many organisations including political parties, who termed the move "undemocratic".

Towing staff to wait 5 mins before lifting vehicles

CM tells traffic cops to ensure citizens aren't inconvenienced, even if they are in the wrong

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Bengaluru City Traffic Police have been directed to ensure that their towing staff strictly follows standard operating procedures, thus not putting motorists to any inconvenience or distress, even when the latter are found in violation of vehicle parking norms.

Following a meeting with Bengaluru City Police Commissioner Kamal Pant and Joint Commissioner of Police (Traffic) BR Ravikanthe Gowda on Monday, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai directed them to ensure that towing staff in the state capital allow five minutes' time before lifting or towing away a vehicle from a no-parking zone.

During this five-minute period, the staff has to announce the registration number of the vehicle and call for the owner to appear before them to explain the violation, and a spot fine will be levied only if the violation is justified.

The towing staff (officially called Tigers) are known to lift or tow away vehicles with the owners running after them to plead them to return their vehicles -- a common sight in Bengaluru.

The CM's meeting with the two senior police officers took place two days after a traffic ASI was suspended over allegedly kicking a woman, while picking two-wheelers parked in a no-parking zone near My Sugar building, in Halasuru Gate traffic police limits, on January 24. The ASI had attacked the woman after she allegedly threw a stone and injured him.

The incident was captured on phone cameras by several bystanders, and the video went viral on social media, following which Home Minister Araga Jnanendra ordered an inquiry and called for the ASI's suspension pending a detailed report on the incident. Bommai had then announced holding a meeting to review the towing policy to prevent harassment of motorists by towing staff.

ACTION AGAINST SOCIAL MEDIA POST

Meanwhile, the traffic police have decided to initiate legal action against a person for posting a video on social media, where a delivery boy was running behind a towing vehicle in JB Nagar. An enquiry into the incident revealed that the police had followed SOPs before towing the vehicle and returned it to the delivery boy without collecting any fine.

K'TAKA'S HEALTHCARE NOTHING TO CROW ABOUT: Dr KAFEEL KHAN

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

DR Kafeel Khan, former assistant lecturer at BRD Medical College, Gorakhpur, and one of the accused in the Gorakhpur Hospital tragedy, on Monday launched his book on the events preceding and succeeding the tragedy. He said that though access to healthcare was worse in North India, comparing Karnataka to northern states' statistics is no reason to be happy.

"Compared to Uttar Pradesh's infant mortality rate (IMR) of around 50 per 1,000 births, Karnataka's is 24. But compared to Kerala's statistics, Karnataka is doing much worse as Kerala's IMR is 6," said the doctor, who has been acquitted of all charges against him. The doctor, who had been terminated from his post at the college in November after being repeatedly suspended by the UP government, has undertaken a nation-wide tour to promote and launch his book.

'The Gorakhpur Hospital Tragedy: A Doctor's Memoir of a Deadly Medical Crisis' highlights the doctor's experiences during the tragedy as one of the vilified, the events preceding the tragedy, as well as how he was treated afterwards. The book had been published by Pan MacMillan, a British publisher, because Khan said that Indian publishers had refused to publish it unless he omitted parts of the book on the government.

"The mainstream media had built me up, praising me as a messiah and a hero, and less than 48 hours later, I was being attacked and accused, many senior journalists refused to do their own research and went by what was being spread on social media. Some called me the vice-principal, the superintendent of the college, in reality, I was the junior-most doctor," he said. On the book, he said he had written on the lines of a film or novel. "I've written it with my entire heart, so that the reader can experience what I experienced, the feeling of trying to save those children, the feeling of wrath from the government, and of going to prison," he said.

The doctor is currently campaigning for the right to healthcare. During the launch, he said that the distribution of healthcare facilities in Karnataka, as well as all Indian states, was poor. "Bengaluru may have the best in terms of tertiary care, advanced care, and all kinds of healthcare, but is that the same in rural areas in Karnataka?" he asked. He is hopeful that the right to healthcare is passed, saying that everyone must have free healthcare, accessible at least within 5-10 km.

Pro-Hindu groups allege porters' room converted into place of worship

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FOLLOWING a video claiming that the porters' room located on Platform No. 6 at Krantiveera Sangolli Rayanna Railway Station has been converted into a place of worship for a minority community, Hindu organisations have given a petition to initiate action.

A video showing the porters' room, where a few people are praying, is doing the rounds on social media for the past few days. Following this, members of pro-Hindu outfits have given a petition to the Divisional Railway Manager of South Western Railway, seeking legal action on the "unauthorised" place of prayer.

Police sources said both Railway Protection Force and Government Railway Police personnel have been deployed at the porters' room to avert any untoward incidents.

"We have written to the DRM informing that a video of the porters' room has gone viral and to take necessary action which they deem fit, as it may lead to law and order problems in future. We can't do anything about it as the porters' room is a property of the Railway department," a senior police officer of the GRP said, on condition of anonymity.

Sources said people of different faiths work as porters and offer prayers in the same room, which has been going on for 30 years.

"However, as the place has an outlook of a place of worship of a particular community, it has become the topic of discussion now," the officer added.

Pro-Hindu organisations condemned that the room has been converted into a place of worship and is a serious issue and "threat to national security".

"Though there are several places of worship around the railway station, giving permission for prayers on the platform seems to be a conspiracy. We request you to take immediate action on those who permitted the unauthorised place of worship, and prayers should not be allowed in the room, failing which there will be a severe protest," the petition stated.

Laid-off ITI workers go on hunger strike

The laid-off ITI workers sit in protest in Bengaluru on Monday | EXPRESS

ENS @ Bengaluru

Workers of the ITI have undertaken a hunger strike starting from January 31. The workers had been protesting outside the ITI Limited factory since December 1, after they were terminated from their posts with no notice.

Recently, the regional labour commissioner had intervened in the ongoing conflict, ordering the ITI to take the workers back, as they had been illegally terminated, but the company has refused. Previously, Hemanth Kumar, one of the protest leaders, told TNIE that the company had reached out to the protesters and said they would be hired back only after certain conditions were met. As of Monday, the workers are on their 62nd day of protest, stating that they will continue until the company complies with the instructions given by the regional labour commissioner.

PETER VIDAL

01st February : I attended a lecture about 'entanglement' the other day. If you don't know what that is then neither did I. It's the description for what happens when two atomic particles are permanently linked, however far apart they are. The implication is that there is a molecule in your body which may, at this very moment, be in direct contact with one in the heart of a distant star. Now, that's an amazing thought!

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
The Sun swaps its relationship with romantic Neptune for one with optimistic Jupiter. In effect this means that there will be little change in the dreamy, impractical nature of the times. You may as well face up to a week which favours poetic imagination rather than practical realities.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
The lure of the strange and unusual is becoming stronger in your horoscope day by day and week by week. The question is, can you satisfy this aspect of your character close at hand or must you plan an overseas expedition? Are you ready for a voyage into the unknown?

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
You will be caught in the same unrealistic fantasies which affect so many people in your circle. This is no time for your famous clarity of thought, except in so far as you have minor domestic arrangements to complete. Let your imagination roam free, like a genie out of a bottle.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
You are usually a shrewd judge of character, yet your normal good sense has temporarily abandoned you. You are likely to judge other people by romantic criteria which have nothing to do with them and everything to do with your unfulfilled expectations.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
You're free to make your own decisions - and don't forget it! Most of what happens will not influence you on a deeply personal level. Instead it will be external matters - work, savings and so on - which seem to be important. Plus, of course, you have a great deal more in the way of social skills than usual.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You may feel safe with Mercury once again in a secure location, meaning that you now have the strength to shape decisions, arrangements and proposals to your will. Waste no effort, for time is short - very short. The first step is to see that your finances are in order.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
It is just your luck to be seized with a great deal of determined and practical energy when the general planetary situation is supporting your motivation, competence and skill. You'll overcome a personal challenge with your usual brilliance.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You may be involved in secret or discreet discussions, yet while one part of you realises the importance of keeping the facts close to your chest, another will be urging you to blurt out everything you know. Wait a couple of days and your position should be stronger.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
It would be a shame if your genuine nobility of spirit were now to be sacrificed on the altar of financial success. Instead, try to see that money is a resource to be used for the general good. A change of heart on your part will transform partners' feelings about you.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Your eyes may be bigger than your stomach at the moment, which is a colourful way of saying that your ambitions may be unrealistic considering your resources. Traditional entertainments suit your mood, so stick to old friends and familiar places - and be happy!

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Given that the overwhelming mood of the times is philanthropic, charitable, confused, visionary, impractical and muddled, see to it that you are able to distinguish gullibility and exploitation from genuine service to others. Be a door-mat no longer!

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
It may be with a certain amount of relish that you observe so many other people behaving in a way which is out of character for them but perfectly natural to you. In other words, it's unrealistic and muddled, dreamy and romantic. At last, the whole world takes its cue from you!

CM Basavaraj Bommai on Monday inaugurated a ground-level reservoir of 7.5 million litres in KR Puram, which will help nine major areas in the vicinity. He said the reservoir will meet the needs of the people and water should be used judiciously as it is a precious commodity. The reservoir was constructed at a cost of Rs 8.5 crore.

B'luru Rural hits 100% double vax target

Vijayapura comes close second; State average 88%, 14 dists march ahead, 14 dists lag behind

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

Bengaluru Rural has become the first district in Karnataka to vaccinate its entire eligible population. According to the state government, all eligible people in the district are double vaccinated against Covid-19. Meanwhile, 10 other districts in the state have achieved over 90 per cent second dose coverage.

Karnataka Health Minister Dr Sudhakar K on Monday took to Twitter to announce it: "Bengaluru Rural becomes the 1st district in Karnataka to achieve 100% second dose coverage! Congrats to all the health workers and district administration involved in this!"

Data shared by the Health and Family Welfare department shows that of 11 districts covering more than 90 per cent of its eligible population, Vijayapura comes after Bengaluru Rural, having achieved 99 per cent of second dose coverage.

So far, the state average of achieving second dose coverage is 88 per cent. There are 14 districts above the state average, and 14 others which are inching towards the state average. "The other districts are also ramping up vaccination and will soon achieve the target of double-dose vaccination," Dr Sudhakar says.

However, Kalaburagi is lagging behind, with only 79 per cent of its population vaccinated with both doses. Appreciating efforts made by the Karnataka government in achieving this feat, doctors and experts on the Technical Advisory Committee said the state could handle the third wave without much hospitalisation, and also fewer deaths, as it has done remarkably well in vaccinating its population.

"Our hospitalisation numbers would have definitely gone up if vaccination had not played a role in reducing the severity of the disease. Though there can't be any room for complacency, the Karnataka government should be appreciated for its efforts to achieve complete vaccination of nearly 88 per cent of it's population," a renowned doctor from TAC told TNIE.

It may be noted that Karnataka last week achieved a milestone of recording 100 per cent average coverage of first dose of the Covid-19 vaccine. It is one of the first large states, with a population of more than 4 crore, to achieve this.

HEALTHCARE IMPROVING, MOVING TO ALL DISTRICTS, SAYS SUDHAKAR

Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar said the health sector was improving tremendously in the state. Facilities are not just limited to Bengaluru, but are improving in other districts too, he said. Speaking on the sidelines of the foundation stone laying ceremony of a maternity hospital in KR Puram, along with CM Basavaraj Bommai, Sudhakar said that earlier, oxygenated beds were available only in one district, now they are available in all districts. "Karnataka is working to achieve the target of fewer deaths of mothers and infants, set by the UN. The health sector is no longer limited to Bengaluru, and in the coming days, more super-speciality hospitals will come up in all districts," he said. The maternity home is coming up on the premises of the existing government hospital. Sudhakar said it is the first one on the Kolar-Bengaluru road, for over 80km. The government granted Rs 30 crore for the hospital, and an additional Rs 20 crore for a 100-bed hospital, of which 50 beds will have ventilators. ENS

Scientists analyse Omicron variant's lineages, reasons behind its low severity

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

SCIENTISTS across the world, including INSACOG, a consortium of 28 laboratories in India, are closely monitoring lineages of the highly transmissible Omicron variant, which has an unusual array of mutations its predecessors did not have.

While there have been several theories on the reason for high transmission and its multiple mutations, microbiologist Dr Gagandeep Kang, in a recent webinar, said though Omicron has the potential to mutate and transmit really fast, it does not lead to severity, like Delta did. This is because of a phenomenon called 'epistasis', where the background of mutations influences how genes actually work.

A health worker tries to collect swab sample of a child in Bengaluru on Monday | SHRIRAM BN

"We got really lucky with Omicron because of epistasis. We wound up with the virus while it was capable of immune evasion of a level we have never seen before. But it did not result in the severity that we saw before," Dr Kang said at the webinar 'Omicron: Enigma or End'.

Scientists believe it is still an enigma. Virologist Dr Jacob John had earlier told TNIE that to know under what conditions Omicron arose, might help science to understand the risk of new variants emerging, and suggest steps to minimise it.

According to a senior doctor who is also part of Karnataka's genome sequencing committee, scientists are working on three theories behind Omicron's arrival. One is that the researchers might have simply missed a series of mutations that eventually led to Omicron. Alternatively, Dr Angelique Coetzee, Chairperson, South Africa, says it is possible that the variant might have evolved mutations in one person, as part of a long-term infection. The other theory is it could have emerged unseen in other animal hosts, such as mice or rats, Dr John says. "Omicron is not fathered, or mothered, by Wuhan-D614G, Alpha, Beta, Gamma, Delta, Kappa or Mu." According to him, Omicron's immediate parentage is not known but it has some distant connection with Wuhan-D614G, which began the pandemic.

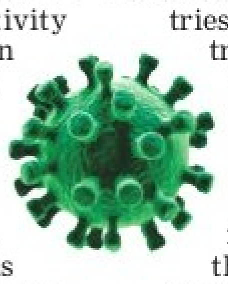
The World Health Organisation is also closely tracking the BA.2 sub-lineage of the Omicron variant. Though all the sub-lineages are closely related genetically, each features mutations that could alter how they behave. However, Dr V Ravi, virologist, in an earlier interview with TNIE, had said that BA.1 is missing one of three target genes used in a common PCR test and is easier to identify, but BA.2, sometimes known as a "stealth" sub-variant, does not have the same missing target gene.

It is yet to be seen if BA.2 alone can cause another wave, and researchers are now working to find out if BA.2 can cause infections in those who have already been infected with BA.1.

Positivity rate dips to 17%, but stay on guard: Minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA is seeing a steady downward trajectory, with positivity rate also coming down, Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar said. Positivity rate slipped to 17.11% in the state on Monday. The state recorded 24,172 new Covid-19 cases, as opposed to 28,264 cases on Sunday.



"In the past four days, the peak in Bengaluru is declining. We had reached a positivity rate of almost 32% , but it is continuously decreasing and on Sunday, it was around 16% . Other districts are showing a similar trend," he said.

However, there are some districts which are still showing an upward spike and positivity rate of more than 35% .

Though there are good indicators of the state hitting a plateau, we should remain on guard for two to three weeks to see how the trend goes, Sudhakar said. With some countries showing a changing trend, Karnataka also needs to keep a close watch to understand if there is a new variant or the same variant is behaving differently,. He ruled out the possibility of another spike in caseload during the third wave.

Relief for cinema halls?

On the cine industry's demand for 100% seating capacity permission, Sudhakar said that theatres are closed spaces with air-conditioning systems. However, he added that the decision would be taken by the CM.

Heads of 37 mutts submit wishlist, seek funds, land

Urge CM Bommai to announce more financial assistance, land for education institutions run by them in his maiden budget

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

Heads of 37 mutts greet Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai before submitting a list of demands, in Bengaluru on Monday. RDPR Minister KS Eshwarappa looks on

WITH Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai starting his preparatory meetings for the State Budget, to be presented in the first week of March, the heads of 37 mutts representing Backward Communities met him on Monday with a request for financial assistance and land for education institutions run by them.

Addressing the media after the meeting, Bommai said the delegation, headed by Sri Niranjanananda Puri Swami of Kaginele Mahasamsthana Kanakaguru Peetha, suggested that the State Government come up with policies for the welfare of people from Backward Classes and Dalits in the budget.

They asked for creating more opportunities for the youth from Backward Classes in education and employment as well as more political representation for them.

"The mutts have asked for grants for educational institutions and land in Bengaluru. The land was allocated to them five to six years back. But they were unable to get possession due to some legal issues. We will look into it," Bommai said. He assured the mutt heads that the State Government will come up with programmes for the welfare of the Backward Classes and Dalits.

Bommai said the request for assistance to educational institutions run by the mutts will be looked into by the Backward Classes Welfare Department and can be considered under the SCSP/TSP (Scheduled Castes Sub-Plan and Tribal Sub-Plans). In the 2021-22 state budget, Rs 26,005 crore was allocated for SCSP/TSP. Sources in the government said that till the end of December 2021, 52 per cent of that amount was spent.

Asked if he will be providing financial assistance to mutts like his predecessor BS Yediyurappa, Bommai said he will not talk about what he will be doing in the budget.

The Chief Minister, however, hinted at providing assistance to the mutts by saying that along with the government, they too are working for the welfare of Backward Classes, SCs and STs by providing education to them. "Providing assistance to them (mutts) will be like providing assistance to people from those communities," he said.

In the memorandum submitted to the CM by 37 mutts, they have asked for financial assistance of Rs 5 crore and five-acre land in Bengaluru for each mutt for the development of educational institutions run by them.

BJP to hold meetings in all dists on Union budget

BENGALURU: As part of Bharatiya Janata Party's nationwide initiative, the party's Karnataka unit is holding several conferences and discussions in all districts headquarters and other centres from February 5 to 15 to create awareness about the announcements in the Union budget. The party has also made arrangements for a live telecast of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's speech on the budget on Wednesday in all districts and taluks, BJP General Secretary and Member of Legislative Council N Ravi Kumar told the media on Monday. Ravi Kumar said around 100 party workers, ministers, MLAs and MPs will be at the party offices in districts when the Prime Minister's speech will be telecast live on big screens. The BJP MLC said subject experts, members of chambers of commerce and industry, BJP MPs and leaders will attend the conferences and discussion about the budget to be organised from February 5 to 15. Meanwhile, the party will also organise meetings with beneficiaries of the schemes to be announced in the budget, Ravi Kumar added. ENS

'Deceptive assessment in Economic Survey'

It ignores the worsening inequalities and harsher conditions faced by the poor and the devastating impact of the pandemic on women, children and rural India

Rajeev Gowda, former MP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Opposition Congress in the state has slammed the Economic Survey 2022, released by the Centre on Monday. Congress legislature party leader Siddaramaiah expressed disappointment over the survey's projections, but chose not to go into the finer aspects.

Former Congress MP, Professor Rajeev Gowda, who was previously a faculty member at the Indian Institute of Management-Bangalore, told TNIE, "The Economic Survey is a very selective and deceptive assessment. It ignores the worsening inequalities and harsher conditions faced by the poor and also the devastating impact of the pandemic on women, children and rural India.''

"It does not look at two-wheeler sales, which is an indicator of the lower middle class and rural Indian consumption. It celebrates tax revenues which have been squeezed by way of excessive fuel tax which hurt the poor more than anyone else," Prof Gowda added.

AICC spokesman Brijesh Kalappa said, "The impetus of the Modi government in a post-Covid era ought to have been on softening the blow dealt by the pandemic on sectors like tourism, hospitality and allied activities. The Economic Survey has virtually ignored all of these sectors. More ought to have been done for job growth and sectoral allocation for MSMEs. However, both these areas have been left untouched. There are gaping holes in the economy and the Economic Survey is an attempt to airbrush them into invisibility."

Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Monday tabled the Economic Survey 2022 in the Lok Sabha on the first day of the Budget session.

Singh played role in ending Cong-JDS coalition govt

"IF the Leader of the Opposition had called the minister, it would have been acceptable. But Anand Singh has gone and met the head of a political party," a Bharatiya Janata Party leader remarked.

Anand Singh has earlier played a role in bringing down the Congress-Janata Dal-Secular coalition government and supporting the BJP dispensation.

He was elected from Congress in the 2018 Assembly polls, but in 2019, he resigned from his position along with 17 other Congress and JDS MLAs. He later won the bypoll and became the forest minister in the BS Yediyurappa-led government. When Basavaraj Bommai took over as chief minister, Singh was allocated the tourism, ecology and environment portfolio, but he was not happy.

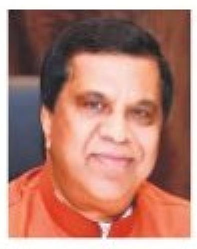
It is also said that he was discontented with Bommai over making him the Koppal district in-charge minister, instead of his home district Vijayanagar.

His supporters had staged a protest against it.

The 55-yea-old leader has several criminal cases against him. A CBI trial too is on over encroachment of land and illegal mining.

JDS expels ex-MP Shivarame Gowda

ENS@ Mysuru, Bengaluru



THE JDS on Monday expelled former Mandya Lok Sabha member L R Shivarame Gowda from the party on charges of anti-party activities, a day after a purported audio clip of him allegedly making derogatory remarks against former MP, late G Made Gowda of the Congress.

"He's belittling a veteran like Made Gowda, that too when he is no more, cannot be tolerated," said JDS leader and former chief minister H D Kumaraswamy. Following this, JDS state president H K Kumaraswamy issued an order expelling Shivarame Gowda.

In the audio, Shivarame Gowda, who can be heard speaking to a JDS woman worker over phone, expresses his desire to contest from Nagamangala Assembly seat in 2023. Narrating about his political career, during which he claimed to have faced several upheavals, Shivarame Gowda said that he had even beaten up late Made Gowda who was an obstacle to his career. He had also claimed that he had spent Rs 30 crore to win the Mandya LS bypoll to enjoy a mere five-month tenure as MP and eventually had to sacrifice the seat in 2019 to Nikhil Kumaraswamy following the conspiracy of Nagamanagala JDS MLA Suresh Gowda. He is heard saying that he is ready to spend another Rs 30 crore to win from Nagamangala. He also allegedly said that he spent money to ensure the victory of party candidates in the zilla panchayat polls.

"I will contest from Nagamangala as former PM H D Deve Gowda and former CM H D Kumaraswamy are going to give me the ticket. I am new to Koppa hobli, but it falls under Nagamangala Assembly seat. I seek your support", he told the woman party worker.

Nalapad takes charge as state Youth Cong chief

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

Youth Congress leader Mohammed Haris Nalapad attends a havan after taking charge as KPYCC president in Bengaluru on Monday

KARNATAKA Pradesh Youth Congress Committee leader Mohammed Haris Nalapad on Monday occupied office as president of youth wing by performing some rituals at the Congress Bhavan on Race Course Road. Soon after assuming office, he visited KPCC president D K Shivakumar and Congress campaign committee chairman M B Patil and sought their blessings.

As per an earlier agreement, the incumbent KPYCC president Raksha Ramaiah's term ends on January 31 and Nalapad was to take charge on February 1. But Tuesday being a new moon day, which is not considered auspicious, Nalapad performed the rituals on Monday itself, one of his supporters told TNIE. He is expected to officially take charge on February 10, he added. "After obtaining the consent of the AICC and incumbent KPYCC president Raksha Ramaiah, I am assuming charge. My aim is to make Rahul Gandhi the Prime Minister of India,'' Nalapad told reporters.

"As per the decision taken earlier by IYC, @nalapad will take over the charge as @IYCKarnataka President with immediate effect. We wish you good luck for future endeavours (sic)", Indian Youth Congress president Srinivas B V tweeted.

Nalapad, along with his grandfather N A Mohammed and father N A Haris, and their supporters, organised an all-religion event in which 'havan' was held as per Hindu rituals and prayers were also offered as per Islamic and Christian customs.

The polls to elect KPYCC office-bearers, including the president, were held between January 10 and 12 last year virtually due to Covid-19 restrictions. There were also allegations about Nalapad winning the polls allegedly by 'illegal' means with the help of Bitcoin scam key accused Sriki. Although he had garnered 64,203 votes against Raksha Ramaiah's 57,271, the issue went all the way to the party high command. Besides, since Nalapad was facing criminal charges in a pub attack case, his taking charge was deferred. Following this, Raksha became president and after Srinivas B V intervened, it was decided that the former's term will end on January 1, 2022 to pave the way for Nalapad to take charge.

My elevation has nothing to do with Ibrahim issue: Khader

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mangaluru

Congress leader and former minister UT Khader calls on veteran party leader B Janardhana Poojary in Mangaluru on Monday

A day after he was appointed deputy leader of the Congress legislature party in the Assembly, former minister U T Khader maintained that his elevation has nothing to do with senior party leader CM Ibrahim's announcement of quitting the party.

Ibrahim was miffed after the party overlooked him for the post of Leader of Opposition in the Council and instead picked B K Hariprasad.

Khader also denied that the Congress sidelined its minority community leaders. "Congress governments headed by S M Krishna and Siddaramaiah had seven and five ministers from the Muslim community, respectively. So, where has discrimination taken place? You can't expect everything at once. It is only the Congress which takes along everyone following the principles of the Constitution," he said.

He said soon after his appointment as deputy CLP leader, he spoke to Ibrahim and other party leaders like Tanveer Sait and Zameer Ahmed Khan and maintained that they extended their full cooperation to him. Khader, a four-time MLA, said he will work under the guidance of KPCC president D K Shivakumar and CLP leader Siddaramaiah and take on the BJP government in the state, both inside and outside the Assembly, over its "failures".

Slams bus fare hike

Khader condemned the government's move to hike bus fares in state transport buses and alleged that the government was buckling under pressure from private bus operators. "Private bus operators wanted KSRTC bus fares to go up in order to match theirs. The hike was effected quietly without making any announcement. The bus fare for a trip between Deralakate and Mangaluru (18 km) has gone up from Rs 13 to Rs 20. A common man can't afford such a steep hike," he said, adding that the party will protest against this.

He also hit out at Dakshina Kannada in-charge minister V Sunil Kumar's statement on solving the deemed forest issue in the government alleging that the minister is trying to fool people with such assurances. "Why have they failed to resolve the issue so far?" he asked.

Meanwhile, Khader also visited senior Congress leaders and religious leaders and sought their blessings.

CLP leader Siddaramaiah (centre) relaxes with HC Mahadevappa and HP Manjunath at a resort in the Kabini backwaters on Monday

'Former CM used AHINDA for his gains'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru

A day after Congress MLC CM Ibrahim accused Opposition leader in the Assembly, Siddaramaiah, of betraying him, BJP MLC A H Vishwanath has lashed out at the former chief minister, accusing him of finishing the Kuruba community leadership for his own political survival.

Addressing the media, Vishwanath said Siddaramaiah succeeded politically by playing the AHINDA card (Kannada acronym for Minorities, Backward Classes and Dalits) and betrayed senior leaders like S M Krishna, Mallikarjun Kharge, H M Revanna, C M Ibrahim and Vishwanath himself, who were responsible for bringing him into the Congress fold.

It is unfortunate that the AHINDA leader has no sense of gratitude towards these leaders, Vishwanath said, claiming that Ibrahim played a major role in ensuring Siddaramaiah's victory from Badami in the 2018 Assembly elections.

The senior BJP MLC charged that Siddaramaiah used Dalits, Minorities and Kurubas for his political gains and finished the career of H M Revanna and B B Chimmanakatti, Dr G Parameshwara, Roshan Baig and leaders.

Asked about Siddaramaiah claiming that 15 BJP MLAs were in touch with him to join the Congress, Vishwanath wanted to know how much they were being paid to jump ship.

Siddu huddles up in resort with old pals

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

CONGRESS legislature party leader Siddaramaiah, who returned from a tour of his Badami constituency and the aborted Mekedatu padayatra, has taken a break at a resort in the Kabini backwaters in HD Kote taluk.

The former chief minister is accompanied by his old buddies, including former minister H C Mahadevappa, K Venkatesh, H P Manjunath and others. He took stock of recent political developments within and outside the Congress, especially in the light of his close associate C M Ibrahim coming out in the open against the party leadership. Siddaramaiah will also catch up on the Union Budget on Tuesday at the resort.

The group was also joined by Sindhanur MLA Badarli Hampana Gouda, H D Kote MLA Anil Chikkamadu and others. KPCC working president R Dhruvanarayana also visited Siddaramaiah at the resort. The leaders held closed-door discussions in the afternoon and later took a walk within the resort premises while their personal assistants and other staff were kept out.

The huddle comes in the backdrop of differences within the Congress coming to the fore, especially with a conversation between Siddaramaiah and former MLA Ashok Patan on the recent developments and lobbying for party tickets going viral.

Meanwhile, H C Mahadevappa claimed they have no specific agenda for discussion and that they were at the resort just to relax and discuss the ongoing political developments.

Kin to consult elders on headscarf issue

WHILE the college committee insisted that the students wearing headscarves will not be allowed, the students and their parents at the meeting said they would convey their decision after consulting elders at home. The meeting, chaired by college committee president and Udupi MLA K Raghupathi Bhat, was attended by Karnataka Beary Sahitya Academy member Rahim Uchil and other Muslim leaders.

At the closed-door meeting, Rahim Uchil reportedly told the students that it was right on their part to insist on wearing headscarves, but they should not vitiate the academic atmosphere in an educational institution. "I told the students that as citizens of India, they should uphold constitutional values," he told reporters after the meeting.

MLA Bhat said the students were told not to come to the college if they continued with their stand. He said the police have been told to be present on the campus to restrict the entry of members of any outside organisations and mediapersons which affects the academic atmosphere on the campus, making it difficult for other students to focus on their studies.

Sources from the Campus Front of India, which initially took up the cause of the Muslim students, told TNIE that the students will not budge.

Officer sends legal notice over charges

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru:

FACING a series of allegations, IPS officer Ravi D Channannanavar on Monday issued a clarification, stating that all allegations against him were baseless and he has also initiated legal action against those who are involved in slandering him.

In a press release, Channannanavar alleged that certain individuals were making baseless allegations against him and his family members on social media, with malafide intentions. "The claims they have made are baseless and the properties which they claim I made illegally, have been purchased legally and some belong to my parents. Details of the same have been declared to the Income Tax department," he clarified.

He said that instead of reacting on social media, legal notices have been issued to those who made those false allegations, but none has replied. "I have also filed a defamation case claiming Rs 3 crore damages and have prayed to court to award two years' jail term for making false claims. I have complete faith in the judicial system, and respect for advocates and people who fight to bring a positive change in the system," Channannanavar said, adding that he approached the court seeking an injunction as baseless allegations were made, and not to restrict the freedom of speech of the media.

Court issues temporary injunction

A city court on Monday admitted the defamation suit filed by Channannanavar seeking Rs 3 crore as damages, and issued a temporary injunction.

His advocate Sudhanva DS said the court has imposed a temporary injunction on Jagadish Kumar KN, Facebook, five channels and websites, and YouTube to stop broadcasting news that damages the reputation of the petitioner. "Besides, the court has directed them to remove all posts, articles, videos and audios from Facebook and YouTube. We have submitted to court a screenshot of posts making baseless claims," he added.

YOUTH HELD FOR RUNNING LUXURY CAR OVER STRAYS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A 23-year-old youth, who had run over stray dogs with his luxury car in Jayanagar, has been arrested by the Siddapura police. The accused has been identified as Adi Narayana, a resident of Jayanagar, and an unemployed youth. He is the grandson of Late D K Adikesavulu Naidu, former MP and former chairman of the Tirumala Tirupati Devasthanams (TTD) Trust.

On January 26 evening, Adi had had allegedly driven his luxury car on the footpath, where stray dogs were sleeping, at 10th 'B' Main Road in Jayanagar 1st Block.

Animal rights activists had brought the incident to the notice of the police and sought action against the driver. A complaint was filed by a former corporator on January 29 in connection with the incident.

The police, who verified the CCTV footage of the incident, arrested Adi and booked him under the provisions of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act and section 428 (commit mischief by killing, poisoning, maiming or rendering useless any animal or animals) of the IPC.

The police have seized his car while he was released on station bail later.

ED gets HC notice for 'high-handedness'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A notice was issued by Justice Krishna S Dixit of the Karnataka High Court to the Enforcement Directorate (ED) after Sudarshan Ramesh, brother of Bitcoin scam accused Srikrishna, filed a petition alleging high-handedness of ED which restrained him from travelling to the Netherlands on January 13, 2022.

Sudarshan, it was stated, came to India in August 2021 to visit his ailing father. In November 2021, ED summoned him and he appeared on three occasions. Although he was scheduled to depart for the Netherlands on January 13, 2022, for some reasons, authorities restrained him from boarding the flight from BIAL. He stated that he had complied with the immigration protocols.

His permissive tenure for extending his stay outside the Netherlands expires on January 27, 2022. It was obligatory on the part of the petitioner in order to resume his work permit to reach the Netherlands by January 19, 2022.

If a permanent Dutch resident violates the condition, the same will lead to irreparable consequences which may even amount to cancellation or withdrawal of his resident permit, the petitioner alleged.

Contending that he had no knowledge of the scam as he was staying abroad during that time, the 32-year-old petitioner alleged that the ED had found nothing concrete to establish his connection with the scam. It was evident from the fact that the petitioner had not been further summoned nor was arraigned as an accused in any other criminal proceedings, he added.

PLEA BY IMA SCAM ACCUSED DISMISSED

The Karnataka High Court dismissed a petition filed by Abbas Mohammed Khan, an accused in the IMA Ponzi scam, questioning an order passed by the special court on October 1, 2019, taking cognisance of the offences against the accused, based on a complaint filed by the Enforcement Directorate (ED). The Assistant Director of ED filed a complaint against the petitioner and others before the Special Court for the offences punishable under Sections 44 and 45 read with Sections 3, 70, 4, and 8(5) of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002. The accused cheated more than 30,000 middle-class and lower middle-class people.

A student activist injured in caning by police at Jnana Bharathi campus

POLICE resorted to mild caning after a protest between two student groups turned violent leaving an Assistant Commissioner of Police injured, at the administrative block of Bangalore University on Monday morning.

Police said a group of post-graduation students were protesting against the alleged disrespect to BR Ambedkar's portrait in Raichur. Meanwhile, members of the Akhil Bharatiya Vidyarthi Parishad (ABVP) allegedly started a protest, reportedly without permission, at the same place demanding reforms in examination process.

Within a few minutes, there was an altercation between the two groups. The police at the spot sensed the situation was going out of control and intervened. In the melee, an ACP was pushed by the students and got injured in the hand after falling. Following this, the police resorted to mild caning to disperse the crowd.

Later, the ABVP members shifted their protest to Jnanabharathi police station demanding action against police high-handedness.

Madras HC orders CBI to probe girl's suicide

Victim's father alleged that school authorities forced her do chores as she refused to undergo religious conversion

JEGADEESWARI PANDIAN @Madurai

THE Madurai Bench of the Madras High Court on Monday ordered a Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) probe into the suicide of a 17-year-old girl in Thanjavur on January 19, saying the case is not proceeding on the right lines.

Justice GR Swaminathan passed the order on a petition filed by the father of the girl who alleged that the Class XII student of a Christian missionary school in Thanjavur was forced by school authorities to do chores as she refused to undergo religious conversion. The court, which pulled up Thanjavur Superintendent of Police G Ravali Priya for issuing a press statement ruling out religious conversion, said the officer had rejected the written complaint of the petitioner and a video submitted by him in which the child spoke about the conversion bid.

Noting that the practice of religious conversion was common in India, Justice Swaminathan said that it is not highly improbable at a place named 'Michaelpatti' (the place where the school is situated), and the police ought to have conducted an investigation into the parents' allegations.

Shooting a video of the girl was not an offence by itself but only its subsequent circulation on social media without suppressing the identity of the child victim violated Section 74 of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children), Act 2015, the judge said. The video was taken by Muthuvel only at the instance of the petitioner and the fact that only its truncated version was shared would not make it any less authentic, he added.

The judge also said the case was registered based on information given by the child to police, and hence it could be considered as a dying declaration. There are three dying declarations in the case --- one given to police, second one given to judicial magistrate, and third one privately recorded by Muthuvel. "In this case, there is no contradiction between the police video and the private video. The private video contains extra material," the judge said. Quoting the legal maxim that 'the person who is going to meet the Maker shortly will not utter a lie', the judge said that even a conviction can be based solely on a dying declaration if the court is able to ascertain its veracity.

Materials leaked

The judge also pointed to the allegations raised by the petitioner's counsel about police deliberately leaking the girl's dying declaration before the magistrate and certain portions of the video that exonerate the school authorities. A counter narrative is also being built that the child's father and stepmother are responsible for the suicide, he noted. "Such deliberate leaks raise doubts about the credibility and impartiality of the police investigation," the judge said. Though the parents initially had only sought a CB-CID probe, due to the above reasons, they have lost faith in the State police and wanted a CBI investigation into the death, the judge said. The court also cited a statement issued by School Education Minister Anbil Mahesh Poyyamozhi ruling out conversion and questioning the authenticity of the video.

LAW CATCHES UP

Policeman gets 20 yrs for sexually assaulting woman

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Tumakuru

THE Second Additional District and Sessions Court here on Monday sentenced an assistant police sub-inspector to 20 years of rigorous imprisonment for sexually assaulting a mentally challenged woman.

Judge H S Mallikarjuna Swamy convicted Umeshaiah, who was attached to the Tumakuru rural police station at the time of incident five years ago, and imposed a fine of Rs 1 lakh. The penalty amount will go to the victim as compensation.

The judge convicted Umeshaiah on two counts — Section 376(2) (a) (3) of the IPC (police officer raping a woman in custody) and 376 (2)(n) (committing the act on a mentally challenged person) – with a fine of Rs 50,000 each. Both the sentences will go concurrently.

The convict, who had failed to get bail both in the lower court and High Court, had already served five years in the jail, informed public prosecutor Kavitha V A.

The case was also referred to the district legal cell authority to fix the additional quantum of compensation. The woman, suffering from psychosis continues to be on treatment.

Background

On January 14 night, 2017, the convict, along with other police personnel, were on night patrol at Antharasanahalli under bridge when they found the 30-year-old woman suffering from psychosis and deserted by her husband.

Meanwhile, the police waylaid a private vehicle coming from Madhugiri and made the three inmates alight. The fifty-four-year old convict, on the pretext of dropping the woman to her house, boarded the vehicle with the driver.

He forced the driver Eshwar to drive according to his instructions and while the vehicle was on the move, he sexually assaulted the woman.

The court acquitted the driver of the vehicle that the former used it to commit the crime.

Declared dead in records, man files complaint

V VELAYUDHAM @Mulbagal

MULBAGAL police have registered an FIR against revenue officials and former Tahsildar Rajashekar after Shivaraj, 40, a resident of Hosahalli Village of Kasaba Hobli, Mulbagal, found that the revenue records show that he was dead. In reality, he is still alive and kicking.

As the officials failed to take action on the basis of Shivaraj's complaint, he approached the court with a private complaint to the magistrate, following which police registered an FIR against the officials concerned.

According to sources, revenue officials of Mulbagal reportedly issued a death certificate stating that on July 7, 2021 Shivaraj had died. Some persons reportedly pasted a poster near the main entrance of the village, propagating the false news. Speaking to The New Indian Express, Shivaraj, who owns a small shop, said that, based on the death certificate, the food and civil supplies department removed his name from the ration card and his family is unable to draw ration from the fair price depot.

He said he and his family members were shocked to see the poster in the outskirts of the village and added that it came to his notice in the second week of December.

Shivaraj said that distraught over the incident and failing to get any response from the authorities, he finally filed a complaint with the magistrate.

Assistant commissioner, Anand Kumar Meena, said that an enquiry has been initiated, and steps were taken to cancel the death certificate, adding that he will speak to the authorities concerned to resume ration supplies to the family immediately.

Shobitha Ravindran, Tehsildar of Mulbagal, said that the incident was reported during the tenure of her predecessor. On the direction of the district administration, all measures have been taken up to conduct an enquiry in this regard and the death certificate has been cancelled, she said.

Testing strength: BJP to go it alone in TN urban local body polls

T MURUGANANDHAM @Chennai

AN ambitious BJP, wishing to assess its real strength in Tamil Nadu, on Monday decided to go it alone in the elections to urban local bodies, considered mini Assembly elections.

The BJP is keeping away from the AIADMK after around four years of forging an alliance. Also, the party is contesting the local body elections on its own after 11 years.

Two days after holding talks with the AIADMK, BJP State president K Annamalai announced that his party would be going it alone in this election heeding to the requests from the party cadre who wished to take part in the elections in larger numbers. He also recalled that in many States, the BJP had gone alone in local body elections. Profusely praising AIADMK leaders O Panneerselvam and Edappadi K Palaniswami over seat-sharing talks, Annamalai stoutly denied the contention that the BJP has severed its ties with the AIADMK. "The AIADMK is very much with the NDA and we will face the 2024 Lok Sabha elections together," he reiterated.

"The BJP's national leadership has approved our stand. This is an opportunity for the BJP to take a party to every household in Tamil Nadu. We will make all our efforts to win in all places where we contest," Annamalai said and added that the BJP would field its candidates for all posts across the State.

Responding to a question, Annamalai recalled that during the elections to rural local bodies in nine districts, the BJP contested 9.1 per cent of seats. "This time, the AIADMK has allocated 10 per cent of seats to the BJP. But we have demanded more and given the list. But the AIADMK could not accommodate our request since they have their own commitments within their party. As such, we don't have any regret against the AIADMK leaders on seat-sharing."

Mahadevapura saw highest of 1,291 deaths

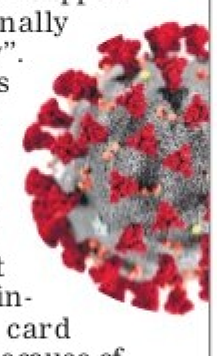
HANDING over cheques of Rs 1 lakh to families of Covid deceased, Bommai assured the people that the government will support them "emotionally and financially".



Records shared by the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) revealed that 1,291 people, including BPL card holders, died because of Covid in Mahadevapura. A total of 897 applications were received, of which 551 beneficiaries are from the KR Puram Assembly constituency. Of these 551, 428 are APL card holders and 95 BPL card holders. The applications of 28 are still under scrutiny.

Malayalam actor featured as postman in K'taka textbook

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

MALAYALAM actor Kunchacko Boban was in for a rude shock when he found himself featured in a school textbook in Karnataka depicting a postman. An image of the page from the textbook has since gone viral.

Teacher
Ticket Checker
Postman
Driver

In a sarcastic post on social media, he wrote in Malayalam, "Anganey Karnatakayil Government Joliyum Set Aayi," (I have a government job in Karnataka). Kunchacko Boban had essayed the role of a postman named Raghunandan in the movie "Oridathoru Postman". The social media post by the actor was soon swamped with comments from his fans.

Reacting to the goof-up, Bengaluru Rural MP D K Suresh took to Twitter saying, "The standard of education in our state is crumbling under BJP. Students have a reduced syllabus and there is no supervision of the government over teaching. Now the textbooks have images taken off from internet instead of well researched report by Textbook Prep Committee. Where are these textbooks being prepared @BCNagesh_bjp & @nimmasuresh?"

SKELETAL REMAINS SEND RESIDENTS INTO A TIZZY

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Belagavi

TENSION prevailed for sometime after the skeletal remains of a person was found on the premises of Hanumantwari Maal in the outskirts of Konduskoppa village in Belagavi taluk on Sunday.

According to police sources, Maruti Piraji Belgaonkar of Bastwad village in Belagavi taluk was the first to spot the skeleton with skull and few bones.

A police team led by Deputy Ccommissioner of Police Ravindra Gadadi visited the spot on Monday. The skeletal remains were sent to forensic science laboratory for examination. But, it is yet to be confirmed whether it is of a male or female.

However, according to sources, police have found a partially gutted leather belt and a piece of jeans pant. So the police suspect the skeleton to be of a male, sources informed.

According to police sources, the victim is suspected to have been murdered six months ago, before disposing off the body by setting it on fire.

Hence, the police are vetting into man missing complaints filed in various police stations of Belagavi and surrounding areas.

A case has been filed at Hirebagewadi Police Station.

LITTLE POLICY PRESCRIPTIONS IN ECONOMIC SURVEY

It's easy to predict backwards in time and the Economic Survey 2022, which just did that, concluded that the giant Indian economic household is under control. Often, surveys tend to be bold, making future projections citing trendline data. But the latest one simply stuck to the script of stocktaking and offered little policy prescriptions, which of late has become the sum and substance of annual surveys. The absence of a full-time chief economic adviser (appointed only last week) while preparing the Survey perhaps explains the reason for the lack of policy advocacy, but what's intriguing is the conservative take on India's growth forecasts. Despite chest-pounding about the government's unique Covid-19 policy response and how it helped improve the economic morass, it projected a modest 8–8.5% growth rate for FY23, lower than the World Bank's 9%.

Notably, the Survey barely mentions the government's $5 trillion economy target by FY26. One would expect the country's top econo-brains to assess and quantify the economic legacy of the pandemic and whether the projected 8–8.5% real growth rate is sufficient enough to meet the FY26 target. The Survey does note the $1.4 trillion infrastructure investments needed to achieve the $5 trillion target, but that's that. Helpfully, the National Statistics Office's revised estimates for FY21 pegged growth to have contracted by 6.6% and not by 7.3%. It'll be interesting to see the nominal growth assumptions used in Budget 2023 as it'll have an implication on revenue and fiscal deficit targets.

Though most of the 80-odd high frequency indicators are flashing green, two key metrics, consumption and investments, are still moving in slow motion. Sadly, none can be sure of the services sector recovery until the pandemic ends for good. The Survey threw little light on consumption or investment rebound and instead hopes that they'll catch up if we wait long enough or at least until the second half of FY23. While we use time as a healer, it's down to the government to be battle-ready to tackle imported inflation and further disruptions from potential virus variants.

SUMMITING 21 THE NADAL WAY

All sport is increasingly defined by numbers, metrics that aim to tell the story about who is good, bad or great. On Sunday night, Rafael Nadal won a 21st Major title. Just in terms of that number, he is the greatest men's singles player of all time. However, Nadal, or the other two members of the fabled Big Three (Novak Djokovic and Roger Federer), stopped caring about those numbers sometime ago. Sure, like most elite athletes operating at the top end of the spectrum, they would like their careers to be defined by great feats. However, what the 35-year old showed at the Rod Laver Arena is really what he has shown ever since he picked up a racquet to play the sport at a competitive level for the first time more than two decades ago: his thirst for a title and his unquenching drive to succeed whatever the obstacle in front of him. It's become a cliche to associate the Spaniard with words like 'passion', 'hunger' and 'will' but he embodies all those traits that have made him the phenomenon that he is today.

At the end of the 2014 Australian Open final, a shaking Nadal, who lost after injuring himself, apologised. "I'm so sorry to finish this way," he had said. Stripped down to his bare essence, that's the athlete the Spaniard was, is and will continue to be till he stops playing the sport. Forget his vicious top-spin forehands or his on-the-run winners from behind the baseline or his kick serves, a lot of elite athletes are blessed with the innate ability to be great entertainers. What makes Nadal that bit extra special is his ability to marry talent with a relentless drive to keep working away from the tennis court. That was very much in evidence in the hours after his marathon 324-minute journey against Daniil Medvedev in the final. Lesser athletes may have felt happy and taken a day off from doing recovery work. Nadal though was in the gym, cycling and sticking to the warm-down routine. Therein lies his secret. His body may give up on him soon enough but his win on Sunday is another reminder of what is possible when you throw everything you have got because that's the only way you know.

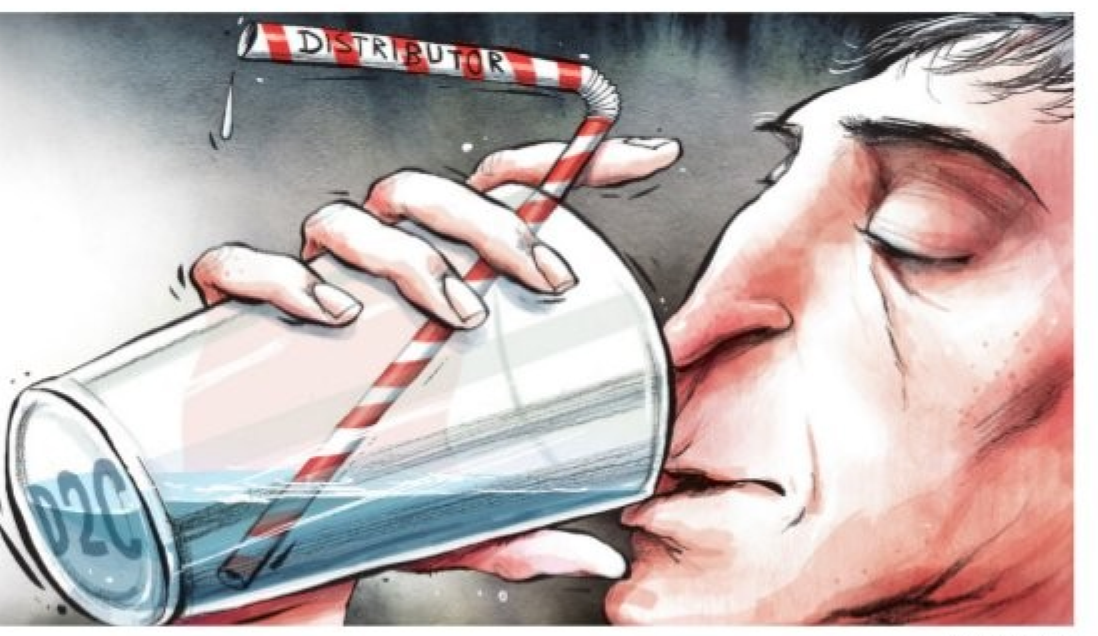
THERE'S BOUND TO BE BIG ACTION IN DISTRIBUTION



SOUMYADIP SINHA

HARISH BIJOOR

Brand Guru & Founder, Harish Bijoor Consults

If there is one thing all of us take for granted, it is distribution.

Think about it. Distribution exists. It happens. But seldom do we as consumers ever wonder how something gets to us. The toothpaste that kicks off many of our mornings, the coffee that follows and literally everything that we use as a product or service every day, they all reach our doorsteps through the intricate and planned back-end system called distribution. Oftentimes, this is forgotten and pushed to the background with more exciting things standing out, such as the brands and their advertising executions.

Big companies have big factories. These factories send their stocks out to their C&F (Consignment and Forwarding) agents. These agents then process the stock down the chain of distribution that takes the tube of toothpaste through redistribution stockists and wholesalers to retailers, who will display the product on their shelves to sell. The consumer then reaches out to the store and makes the buy.

Distribution is therefore a top-down push process till the product reaches the retail point. And from there on, it is a process of pull, which has the consumer going to the store to buy it. This entire top-down push process is intermediated by middlemen of every kind. At every point, there is a margin that is depleted and fed into the system of distribution. A lot of businesses therefore thrive. Income is generated at every level.

India is a classic nation of shopkeepers. We have a total of 14.6 million retailers in the country (if I am to count the 'paan-beeda' shops as well). Each retail point serves a nation of 1.4 billion consumers eagerly waiting for the product to reach their nearest store at arms length and indeed desire's length. The ratio of store to human in the country is therefore a rather healthy one.

Distribution is therefore an important part of the economy we live in, thrive and help create every single day. Distribution as a service at play helps feed millions directly and possibly a multiple of that indirectly. Look around at your own extended family of relatives and friends. How many of them are involved in some form of distribution or the other? In that answer lies the ubiquity of distribution in our lives and the impact it creates in income generation within the nation of shopkeepers we live in.

Every product and service has the need to reach consumers. These consumers live all over the country and are distanced from the point of production. Companies therefore invest deeply into distribution systems that ensure a wide, deep and consistent supply of its products and services week after week. And into it goes a deep degree of planning, logistics, investment and nurturing.

If one is to look at the many types of distribution, there are the basic and rustic ones, and then there are the sophisticated and the new. There are physical systems that operate efficiently at the grassroots level of the country as well as newer ones that use technology as a play to efficiently deliver results.

The first basic distribution system is what I would call 1:1 distribution. The village home with six cows has plenty of milk to spare. It then decides to distribute and sell this excess milk daily to houses in the village that don't own their own cows. That is 1:1. In many cases, the cow is brought to the home and milked in front of the buyer to ensure a completely fresh udder delivery, if you may call it that.

There are systems of distribution that deliver items through tubes and pipes and wires. Electricity distribution is one such. The water and gas supply direct to your home is another. And then there is the distribution system that reaches products to retailers through intermediaries.

> The toothpaste that kicks off many of our mornings, the coffee that follows and literally everything that we use reaches our doorsteps through the intricate and planned back-end system called distribution. Often, this is forgotten, with more exciting things standing out

The distribution system in India is really an old one. A basic one that utilises multi-level movement of goods and services through multiple layers of middlemen. The year is 2022 and the current effort by the big names in the world of distribution is to disrupt the process itself. While the effort to do this has been one in thought for decades, the key action at attempting it is just about happening. And as it does, expect turmoil and tumult.

The current distribution tumult is over a set of actions taken by some big FMCG companies, wanting to disintermediate. The idea is to save money by cutting the length of the chain and thinking of quick ways to reach the consumer more directly. HUL and Colgate Palmolive have, in recent weeks, faced threats of product blockage by the All India Consumer Product Distributors Federation (AICPDF). The FMCG distributors are essentially protesting against the price disparity they seem to witness between traditional and B2B retailers. The entry and growth of JioMart, Walmart, METRO Cash and Carry, and Udaan is ruffling feathers of every hue.

Even as this movement continues, there is a tussle in the space of distribution and distributors. This itself is omni-channel. The battle is between intermediation and direct. The battle is equally between online and offline. Many battles then, all vying to preserve the status quo, just as FMCG companies try to implement the new and the efficient in terms of money, speed and reach.

Though these battles continue, the big war has not begun yet. Even as I close this piece, Jio Platforms is not here yet. The Tata and Reliance apps are due. Amazon and Walmart-Flipkart own 92% of the ecommerce market in India today. Distribution on the metaverse is still a fantasy. WhatsApp digital distribution is not here yet, just as D2C (Direct to consumer) is just about taking baby steps.

The future is more interesting than the past. More volatile as well. Let's remember, we have a large heritage ecosystem of distributors in this country. The retail sector, as per a Bain & Company report, is estimated to touch $1.3 trillion (₹98.3 lakh crore) by 2025–26. The sector is the second largest source of employment generation and livelihood in India, and accounts for more than 10% of the country's GDP. And that's big. There's bound to be big noise and big action.

CLIMATE SMART AGRICULTURE: FOOTPRINTS IN ODISHA

ASIT TRIPATHY, IAS (RETD)

Principal Advisor to the Odisha CM & Chairman, WODC

Agriculture is both a cause and victim of climate change. Agriculture at industrial scale has had a significant impact on water depletion and soil health. The leading international body for assessment of climate change, the IPCC, has estimated that the combined effect of agricultural activities is approximately one-fifth of the greenhouse effect caused by human action. The $C0_2$ amount in the Earth's atmosphere is nearly 412 parts per million (ppm) today, which continues to rise. This represents a 47% increase since the beginning of the industrial age when the concentration was around 280 ppm and a 11% increase since 2000 when it was 370 ppm. Agricultural and allied activities such as rice cultivation, rearing of domestic animals and biomass burning account for 22–46% of the global methane concentration. Among these activities, paddy fields are the most important source, accounting for 15–20% of the world's total methane emission caused due to human activities.

However, agriculture in many geographies, mostly in Africa, South Asia and Latin America, is characterised by fragmented land holding, ownership by small and marginal farmers, low capital investment, moderate-to-nil mechanisation and low productivity. The world's economically poor communities are mostly concentrated in the same places. A World Bank Report on Climate Smart Agriculture (CSA) in 2020 indicates that the world will need about 70% more food by 2050 to feed an estimated 9 billion people.

Twelve years ago, the UN's FAO launched the concept of CSA to holistically manage our farmland, livestock, forests and fisheries. The CSA is not esoteric. Bhutan has started focusing on high-value crops through mega-scale polyhouses with mobile-controlled smart irrigation. Such initiatives protect crops from windstorms and hailstorms. Farmers in the Philippines are receiving real-time scientific advice from "Rice Crop Managers" on their smartphones to make informed decisions to reduce vulnerabilities. Zimbabwe, a victim of prolonged droughts (1950–2013), has now adopted drought-resistant grain such as millets, sorghum and cassava as an initiative under the CSA. The world's top producer and exporter of coffee, Brazil, experienced droughts in 2020. In India, the use of drone-based spray for insecticides and pesticides to increase bio-efficiency has started in pilot mode.

On the eve of Makar Sankranti, the United Nations World Food Programme (UNWFP) and Odisha's government joined hands to improve the food security of small and marginal farmers by strengthening their resilience to climate change. Odisha envisages developing suitable toolkits and modules. Based on a pilot initiative, climate-change professionals shall guide the small and marginal farmers to transform farming practices and resort to alternative livelihood options based on climate risk, thus improving their household income and food security.

The remote forested hills of Odisha's Malkangiri are a high rainfall area lately experiencing flash floods and landslides. A group of Bonda women farmers who have been exposed to climate risk are reaping diverse benefits from their indigenous climate-smart crops. According to a NITI Aayog study in 2020, Odisha recorded a 215% increase in gross value of millet produced per farmer household, from ₹3,957 in 2016–17 to ₹12,486 in 2018–19 and in the same period, the area under millet cultivation has increased from 2,949 hectares to 5,182 hectares and the yield rate has increased by 120%.

The women farmers are currently cultivating native millets that are climate resilient, reduce soil erosion, and ensure food and nutritional security for their community. This initiative is assisted by the Odisha Millets Mission, an initiative of the state government to improve food security. Before the Covid outbreak, women from 18 villages in Nayagarh district painted pots filled with seeds for Kharif season and marched to promote revival of the traditional practice of growing indigenous crops that are naturally pest-resistant and adaptive to climate disturbances. The women exchanged more than 200 varieties of seeds, which was a tradition in the hilly areas to maintain crop diversity.

> Before Covid, women from 18 villages in Nayagarh district painted pots filled with seeds for Kharif season and marched to promote revival of the traditional practice of growing indigenous crops that are adaptive to climate disturbances. They exchanged over 200 varieties of seeds, a tradition in hilly areas to maintain crop diversity

Another climate fighter is Saraju Nayak in Ganjam district. Ganjam has had to bear the brunt of successive cyclones like the super cyclone of 1999, Hudhud and Phailin, which destroyed standing crops, livestock and plantations. Saraju and other women farmers have been attempting to minimise the impact of cyclones on their farms by implementing practices learned from training imparted by the Central Institute of Women in Agriculture in Bhubaneswar. Growth and sale of green fodder as well as animal husbandry have now replaced paddy cultivation.

Elsewhere, Minushri Madhumita and Amrita Jagatdeo from Kalahandi district have developed solar-powered devices with IoTs to cover an entire surface of a water tank for distribution of fish feed and aeration with distributed levels of oxygen. This smart initiative is helping farmers increase fish and prawn productivity, resulting in increased household income. The World Bank Initiative-Odisha Integrated Irrigation Project for Climate Resilient Agriculture (OIIPCRA) launched in 2019 focuses on rehabilitation of water tanks, promotion of aquaculture practices and post-harvest management across 15 districts benefiting 1,25,000 families.

To address the issue of emission of greenhouse gases due to extensive paddy cultivation, Odisha has collaborated with the International Rice Research Institute (IRRI) to launch the project ClimatePRO. The farmers under this initiative shall use the mobile-based application 'SeedCast' to estimate seed demand for varieties of rice to be cultivated.

According to the Odisha Economic Survey (2020–21), agriculture and allied sectors are the mainstay of the economy since more than 60% of people depend on it for livelihood. Innovation and reform in agriculture sector administration are the key. For absorbing world-class ideas, Odisha has collaborated with international and national level NGOs and advocacy groups for evidence-based research and guidance of the field functionaries.

The state government's awareness of the impending climate adversities stems from the fact that it has been faced with the stupendous task of relief and mitigation of natural calamities at regular intervals. The state agencies are tasked to spread locally viable indigenous farming, animal husbandry and agriculture practices in a sustainable way so that small and marginal farmers get remunerative returns.

Pegasus issue reignited

The New York Times report on the alleged purchase of Pegasus spyware by our government has provided renewed vigour to the controversy. This has come at an inopportune time when Parliament is meeting for the Budget session. The Centre has also not divulged much detail about the issue. But the Supreme Court has constituted a committee to probe the issue, which can take the news report into account. This should not be used as a ruse to disrupt Parliament.

K R Jayaprakash Rao, Mysuru

Disrupting Parliament

The Pegasus issue washed out the Monsoon Session of Parliament and has now returned to disrupt the current one as well. A responsible opposition should not paralyse vital Parliamentary proceedings. The onus is also on the government to come clean on the issue.

Enthralling tennis

The finals of the Australian Open 2022 was an enthralling game. It was neck-to-neck till the very end, but Spanish tennis player Rafael Nadal won it by a whisker. The most fascinating aspect of the game was Nadal's astounding bounce-back after the first two sets.

Prabhakaran Vallath, Kozhikode

The last man standing

In sports, it is all about endurance; the last man standing wins. In the Australian Open finals, it was Nadal. Being two sets down against the world no. 2 and coming back the way he did was indeed unreal. Daniil Mendvedev's calm during the match and in the press conference must also be commended.

Democracy in India

This is with reference to The dangers of politics of organised religion (Jan 31). The author drew a correct picture of the present-day situation in India. Textbooks have been rewritten. Historical facts are being reinterpreted to serve political priorities. Those who talk against the administration are branded as anti-nationals. This doesn't bode well for democracy in India.

Rahul Gandhi in a fix

This is with reference to Wrecking ball of chief ministerial face in Congress (Jan 31). The ongoing razzmatazz in the Punjab Congress with regard to announcing their chief ministerial candidate has left Rahul Gandhi in a fix. He does not seem to be able to choose between Congress state president Navjot Singh Sidhu and current chief minister Charanjit Singh Channi. The former cricketer does not seem to know a hawk from a handsaw while the latter bears the stigma of his nephew's involvement in sand smuggling.

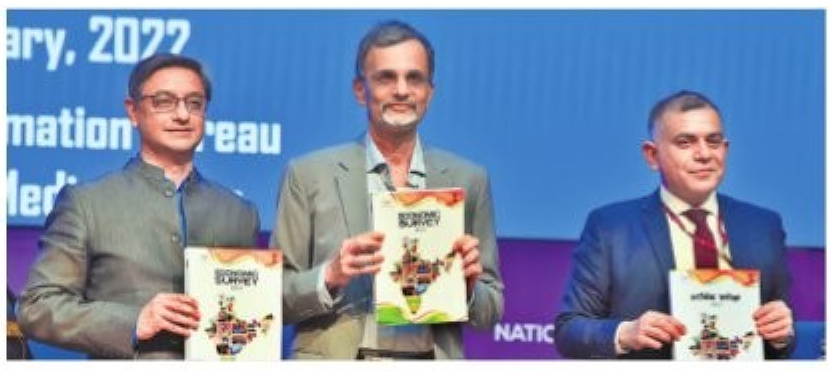
Resilient farm sector to grow at 3.9%: Eco Survey

Asserts govt has to further increase R&D and organic farming, calls for prioritising crop diversification and allied farm sectors

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi



Chief Economic Advisor VA Nageswaran (c) with the survey report | SHEKHAR YADAV

RECOMMENDING an increase in expenditure on agricultural research, the Economic Survey 2021-22, released on Monday, noted that the average monthly income per agricultural household in India stood at ₹10,218 in 2019 as against ₹6,426 in 2014 – an increase of nearly 60 per cent.

The Survey has highlighted the need for improving productivity of small and marginal farmers through development and implementation of small-holding farm technologies. It also suggested use of alternative' and organic fertiliser to protect the soil.

"The performance of the agriculture and the allied sector has been resilient to the Covid-19 shock. The sector grew at 3.6 per cent in 2020-21 and improved to 3.9 per cent in 2021-22," the Survey noted. It has also called for a "focused and targeted approach" towards capital investment in the sector to boost farm incomes.

Referring to the data from Situation Assessment Survey (SAS) of Agricultural Households, the Economic Survey said, "The SAS-2021 reveals that the average monthly income per agricultural household, as per 'paid out expenses' approach, works out to be ₹10,218. The average monthly income per agricultural household was ₹6,426 as per the last SAS Report of 2014, estimated by the same approach."

However, the SAS reports also show the increasing fragmentation of holdings. The average size of household ownership holdings has declined from 0.725 hectare in 2003 to 0.512 hectare in 2019.

According to the survey, research shows every rupee spent on agricultural research and development yields much better returns. Increasing R&D spending on agriculture is, therefore, not only vital for food security but also from the socio-economic point of view.

Stating that the allied agri sectors are steadily emerging to be high growth segments, the survey said increasing importance of allied sectors in growth and income of the farmers indicates that focus needs to shift more towards harnessing the potential of allied activities.

AVIATION SECTOR RECOVERING FROM TURBULENCE

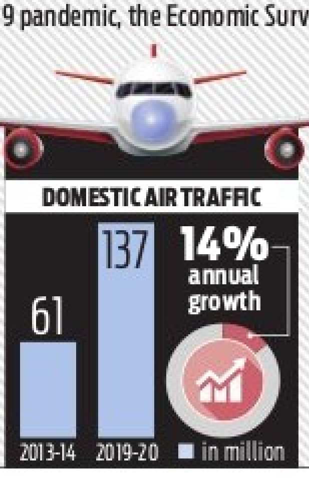
With accelerated pace of vaccine rollout and easing of travel restrictions globally, the Indian aviation sector is on the path of gradual recovery from the turbulence caused by the Covid-19 pandemic, the Economic Survey noted. Highlights:

25 AIRPORTS

have been earmarked for asset monetisation between 2022 and 2025, as per National Monetisation Pipeline (NMP)

STEPS TAKEN BY THE CENTRE TO BOOST THE AVIATION

Disinvestment of Air India; privatisation, modernisation and expansion of airports; boost to regional connectivity scheme UDAN; incentivisation of maintenance, repair and overhaul (MROs) operations; calibrated opening of the domestic sector as the first wave of the pandemic ebbed; introduction of air transport bubbles or air travel arrangements with specific countries



AIRPORTS SELECTED FOR ASSET MONETISATION

Bhubaneshwar, Varanasi, Amritsar, Trichy, Indore, Raipur, Calicut, Coimbatore, Nagpur, Patna, Madurai, Surat, Ranchi, Jodhpur, Chennai, Vijayawada, Vadodara, Bhopal, Tirupati, Hubli, Imphal, Agartala, Udaipur, Dehradun and Rajahmundry

DRONE POLICY

Government liberalised Drone Rules in August 2021 and released production-linked incentive scheme for drones in Sept 2021

The policy reforms will catalyse super-normal growth in the upcoming drone sector, the Survey noted

UAVs can become an important propeller for growth due to reach, versatility, and ease, especially in remote areas

'Vaccination critical for opening up economy'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

EMPHASISING that vaccination is critical for opening up the economy, the Economic Survey noted that the average daily vaccination rate increased four-fold from 19.3 lakh in May 2021 to 75.4 lakh in January 16.

"Vaccination is not merely a health response but is critical for opening up the economy, particularly contact-intensive services. Therefore, it should be treated for now as a macro-economic indicator," it said.

India crossed the milestone of administering 156 crore-plus doses of vaccines on January 16. Over 88 crore of people (93% of the adult population) received at least one dose, while around 66 crore people (70%) was fully vaccinated. Similarly, over 50 per cent of the 15-18 year age group were jabbed with first dose till January 19. As many as 56.66 lakh precautionary or booster shots were logged in the same period.

Quickening the pace of vaccination across states and all age groups was possible because of easy access and pricing, the government said. "The Covid vaccination has played a critical role in minimising loss of lives and boosting confidence in the economy towards the resumption of activity and containing the sequential decline in output due to the second wave."

The vaccination drive continues to gather speed and breadth with the number of days taken to achieve an additional 10 crore doses reducing significantly from 86 days during the initial phase to 15 days, it added.

India rolled out vaccination on January 16, 2021, with the target to inoculate its eligible population by December 2021, with at least the first dose. The second phase started on March 1 (for above 60 years) and April 1, 2021 (from 45-59 years) making all persons aged 45 years and above eligible for vaccination.

HEALTH SPENDING UP

With the pandemic raging in the country, the health sector's expenditure rose by 73% from ₹2.73 lakh crore in 2019-20 to ₹4.72 lakh crore in 2021-22.

Pandemic hit schools in rural areas

NEW DELHI: Independent studies have noted a spike in rural school drop-out rate and a widening digital divide due to the pandemic, the government said.

Though the education ministry data available till 2019 did not capture the impact of the pandemic in 2020 and 2021, it said, smaller government and independent studies like the Annual Status of Education Report (ASER) 2021 found that non-enrolment of children in the 6-14 age group went up from 2.5% in 2018 to 4.6% in 2021 in rural schools.

The decline was more for boys than girls and highest in the 7-10 age group.

"ASER report also found that during the pandemic, children in rural areas have moved out of private to government schools in all three age groups. Possible reasons suggested for the shift are: shut down of low-cost private schools, financial distress of parents, free facilities in government schools, and families migrating back to villages," the survey said, adding that there is no government data yet to corroborate the findings.

The school dropout rate at the primary level came down from 4.45% in 2018-19 to 1.45%. Both boys and girls show a similar fall in the dropout rate.

In 2019-20, 26.45 crore children were enrolled in schools. During the year, schools enrolled about 42 lakh additional children, out of which 26 lakh were in primary to higher secondary levels and 16 lakh were in pre-primary.

However, enrolment dropped from 13.5 crores in 2012-13 to 12.2 crores in 2019-20 at the primary level because of a decline in the number of children in the 6-10 age group. ENS

Rlys to fuel growth

New Delhi: The Indian Railway sector will becoming the engine of national growth in the next 10 years, the survey noted. With a series of mega projects in the pipeline, the railways will have no other way but to see a very high level of capital expenditures to accelerate its capacity growth by 2030. The capital expenditure increased from `45,980 crore per annum in 2014 to `2.15 lakh crore, it noted. "As more projects are taken on hand and several sources of capital finding are developed, the capex will increase further and the railway system will actually emerge as an engine of national growth." ENS

All signs of distinctive Union Budget but wait for details today

Perhaps, the first cheer squad was markets, with Sensex and Nifty rallying 1,000 and 238 points respectively in a pre-blitz session on Monday. What gives?

First up was the government's four-pronged approach to crisis including short-term measures, structural supply-side changes, process and factor market reforms as Nageswaran outlined. In fact, the Survey has put up a spirited defence for the government's pandemic response explaining why they did what they did. As against the usual Waterfall approach to fight crises, they opted for an Agile framework that took us closer to the fortune cookie. Stripped off economic jargon, it means the government believed that while dealing with uncertainties, it isn't enough to have just one grand plan (say a trillion dollar stimulus package) based on initial assessment, but several components rolled out from time to time. To recall Sanyal's earlier remarks, the idea was to cross the river feeling the stones.

Even if one's convinced with real-time rollout of measures, few are happy with the meagre fiscal spending of the government. The Survey reasoned that the emphasis was purely on supply-side for two aspects. One, policymakers viewed the demand squeeze wasn't only due to the pandemic, though this doesn't really cut the mustard given that we were already in a cyclical slowdown.

Helpfully, the second reason goes beyond the government's traditional preparation for a post-Covid scenario, and how demand-side measures alone can't guarantee the needed economic rebound. Which is why, officials deployed a two-pronged supply-side strategy involving factor market reforms, deregulation of sectors including space, removal of legacy issues like retrospective tax, privatisation and monetisation, and to improve the economy's resilience, focusing on social infrastructure and a helping hand to key industries.

Thanks to Covid, the central government debt shot up from 49.1% of GDP in FY20 to 59.3% in FY21, and will likely decline. As on March 2021, total outstanding liabilities stood at ₹117 lakh crore, while public debt accounted for 89.9% of total liabilities.

The Survey hopes the government not only meeting the fiscal deficit target thanks to bumper revenues, but will also be left with enough fiscal space to provide additional support. That said, it didn't touch upon the need for tackling the twin targets of reducing debt and deficits initiated in FY20.

Inflation is now a global issue and though headline inflation is within the targeted tolerance band of 6%, wholesale inflation is running in double-digits. Although this is partly due to base effects that will even out, India does need to be wary of imported inflation, especially from elevated global energy prices.

While the Survey noted that forex reserves of $634 billion, equivalent to 13.2 months of merchandise imports, and higher than the country's external debt, how the adequate buffers will fare in the face of rising global crude prices and against possible global liquidity tapering remains to be seen.

In short, the Survey has fired up hopes of yet another iconic budget. While Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman, whose previous annual financial statement was hailed as one of the five distinctive budgets India has seen, whether she'll get lucky a fourth time? We shall know soon.

Oppn submits privilege motion against Vaishnaw

NEW DELHI: On the first day of the Budget session, several opposition leaders submitted a privilege motion against Union IT minister Ashwini Vaishnaw over the Pegasus row.

The matter was also raised at the all-party meeting called by the government.

The Centre, however, said the matter was in the Supreme Court. The Opposition can raise it while speaking on the Motion of Thanks on the president's address, it added.

At the all-party meeting, the opposition parties demanded discussion on issues, including the latest media report on Pegasus spyware, border issue with China, farmers and agriculture sector, unemployment and Covid.

Leader of Opposition in Rajya Sabha Mallikarjun Kharge, Congress' KC Venugopal, CPI's Binoy Viswam, TMC's MP Saugata Roy and CPI(M)'s V Sivadasan moved the motion against Vaishnaw for misleading the House following a report that the government bought Pegasus from Israel.

Responding to it, Parliamentary Affairs Minister Pralhad Joshi said there was no need for a separate discussion as the matter was sub-judice. "The Opposition only moved the Supreme Court and a committee is looking into it. Let's discuss the budget and motion of thanks to the president's address and when the house convenes in the second half on March 14," he said, adding all the parties agreed that Parliament should function. ENS

Disturbed Didi blocks Bengal Guv on Twitter

KOLKATA: West Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee said that she had blocked Governor Jagdeep Dhankhar on Twitter for his barrage of tweets, prompting him to assert the decorum established by the Constitution.

"Every morning and evening, he tweets accusing and attacking us. As if he is the only supreme and we are bonded labourers. I cannot take it. I have blocked him on Twitter,'' Mamata said.

Mamata said she had written to the Prime Minister several times, seeking removal of the governor but no action was taken so far. Later, she claimed snooping was being done on the instruction of the Raj Bhavan. "Pegasus is being done from the Raj Bhavan. Phones are being randomly tapped,'' she tweeted.

In a prompt response, Dhankhar hit back at Mamata. "Mandated under Article 159 of the Constitution to ensure none in the state 'blocks' Constitutional norms and Rules of Law and those in authority bear true faith and allegiance to the Constitution of India,'' he tweeted. ''Under Article 167, it is Constitution 'duty' of the Chief Minister to furnish such information relating to the administration of the affairs of the state and proposal for legislation as the Governor may call for. Why 'block' information to Guv now for two years?" ENS

Record procurement of farm produce gets pat from Prez

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

PRESIDENT Ram Nath Kovind on Monday cited India's fight against the Covid pandemic, record procurement of farm produce and steps taken to improve internal security as "collective achievements" of the country.

Kovind credited small farmers for the strength of the agricultural sector and lauded the Narendra Modi government for its push to women's rights.

In his address to the joint sitting of both Houses of Parliament, Kovind pointed out that 150 crore doses were administered in a record time.

He added that the ₹64,000 crore PM Ayushman Bharat Health Infrastructure Mission will prepare the country for a health crisis in the future.

Among the achievements listed out by President Kovind was that over six crore rural households are getting tap water under the Har Ghar Jal initiative.

Amid the plans by the Opposition to corner the government over farmer issues, Kovind said India's agriculture exports have crossed ₹3 lakh crore and that the farmers produced 30 crore tonnes of food grains and 33 crore horticulture produce in 2020-21.

Over 11 crore families received ₹1.80 lakh crore through the PM-KISAN, the President said, adding that the government procured more than 433 lakh MT of wheat, which benefited over 50 lakh farmers.

Regarding women empowerment, Kovind said the Beti Bachao, Beti Padhao initiative has yielded many positive results, including improvement in the number of girls enrolled in schools. The President also spoke in favour of the government's bill to increase marriageable age for women from 18 years to 21 years.

Additionally, the government has also provided training to thousands of members of the women Self-Help Groups (SHGs) and made them partners as 'Banking Sakhi' who are delivering banking services to rural households at the doorsteps, he said.

Defence indigenisation

The thrust to indigenisation and reforms in India's defence sector was highlighted by the President. "Of all the approvals accorded for modernisation of armed forces in 2020-21, 87% were from the 'Make in India' category. Similarly, in 2020-21, preference was accorded to the 'Make in India' category in 98% of equipment-related contracts," he said.

ASSEMBLY ELECTION 2022 DECIDE

Captain predicts Sidhu's defeat

CHANDIGARH: Former Punjab CM Capt Amarinder Singh on Monday predicted an abysmal defeat for Punjab Congress president Navjot Singh Sidhu from Amritsar (East). Also, he termed as ridiculous Sidhu's charge of his (Amarinder) hand in Bikram Singh Majithia being pitted against him (Sidhu) by the SAD. "I'm not Majithia's uncle," he quipped.

Uttarakhand parties plan star rallies

DEHRADUN: The three main parties in Uttarakhand are planning rallies with their star campaigners. For Congress, Priyanka Gandhi will address a virtual rally on February 2. A talk of Rahul Gandhi will be on February 5. BJP is planning to organise rallies of PM Modi and Amit Shah. The AAP will be organising rallies of Arvind Kejriwal in the state.

'SP REGIME WAS RUN BY RIOTERS & MUSCLEMEN'

PM says that during the Muzaffarnagar riots of 2013, Akhilesh-led regime was celebrating

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

BRINGING the 2013 communal conflagration of Muzaffarnagar back into his political discourse, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Monday called the previous Akhilesh Yadav-led Samajwadi Party government in Uttar Pradesh as a regime "run by rioters and musclemen".

Addressing his first virtual rally to seek votes for the BJP candidates fielded on 21 western UP constituencies, which are going to polls in the first phase on February 10, Modi targeted the previous SP government and told the voters that those at the helm in 2013 were "celebrating when western UP was burning due to riots".

The virtual rally was attended by around 50,000 people at 98 Jan Panchayat Centres across Saharanpur, Muzaffarnagar, Shamli, Baghpat and Noida. "Western UP was burning and those in power were celebrating," Modi asserted, adding that five years ago, rioters and musclemen used to be the law themselves in UP and used to roam freely under government patronage.

> Five years ago, rioters and musclemen used to be the law themselves in Uttar Pradesh and they used to roam freely under the Samajwadi Party government's patronage — Narendra Modi, Prime Minister

The PM further said those who have been away from power for the last five years are desperate to grab it again by any means. "They want to get the power to take revenge and settle scores," he cautioned.

He also touched upon farmers' welfare, stating that the focus of the upcoming government would be entirely on farmers. Western UP had been roiling due to farmers' agitation over the three contentious farm laws which the Centre repealed in November last year. There is a perception that the farming community of western UP is angry towards the BJP and this might reflect in the elections. The party had won 109 of 136 seats in western UP in 2017 with the support of Jats who make most of the farmers' community.

Heaping praise on UP CM Yogi Adityanath, Modi compared the delivery of welfare schemes during the BJP and SP governments. Inviting the first-time voters and youth to come forward to change the "politics of fear", the PM took a jibe on Akhilesh Yadav saying those who avoid coming to Noida would never be able to fulfill the aspirations of youth.

BJP pitches Union minister Baghel against Akhilesh in Yadav fortress

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Lucknow

WHILE Samajwadi Party chief Akhilesh Yadav filed his nomination from Karhal Assembly seat of Mainpuri district on Monday as part of his first-ever electoral sojourn to the UP Assembly, the ruling BJP sprang a surprise by fielding Union Minister of State SP Singh Baghel to corner the former in his stronghold. Baghel is currently the BJP MP from Agra and was once close to SP patriarch Mulayam Singh Yadav.

Akhilesh, currently the MP from Azamagarh, is the second one to file nomination papers for the Assembly elections from the Yadav clan after his uncle Shivpal Yadav who is in fray from his traditional Jaswantnagar seat in Mainpuri.

Karhal, which has been with the Samajwadi Party for decades, will be going for polling on February 20. The BJP had last won the seat in 2002 and since then, it has been an SP fortress.

After filing papers Akhilesh took to Twitter. "This nomination is a mission as this UP election will write the country's history for the next century. Let's take part in this movement of positive politics with progressive thinking. Defeat negative politics, remove it. Jai Hind!" he posted.

On the other side, Baghel also filed his nomination papers on Monday. A former sub-inspector in UP Police, Prof SP Singh Baghel is a big name in the political arena of the state. He was a part of Mulayam's security fleet while being in the police in 1989. He was the CM's personal security officer (PSO) and went on to become the Samajwadi Lok Sabha MP from Jalesar in 1998, 1999 and 2004.

In 2014, Baghel went to Rajya Sabha through BSP nomination. In 2017, he won the Assembly election from Tundla on a BJP ticket and was made a cabinet minister in the state government. Later, BJP gave him a ticket from Agra in 2019 general elections and he won the seat.

Social worker candidate owns fleet of cars

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI & HARPREET BAJWA
@Mumbai/Chandigarh

BJP candidate from Panaji seat in Goa, Atanasio Monserrate Babush, owns a fleet of luxury vehicles, the highest among all candidates. In his poll affidavit, Monserrate has declared himself a social worker and in his list of vehicles owned are a Mercedes Benz costing ₹16.48 lakh and a BMW worth ₹14.80 lakh. There is also a Ford Endeavour in his fleet costing ₹33.96 lakh and a Volkswagen T Roc worth ₹23.97 lakh.

His wife, who too is in the poll fray, owns a Mercedes Benz GLS that costs ₹1.02 crore and a Mahindra Thar worth ₹15.23 lakh.

If it's Monserrate's fleet that has attracted attention in Goa, in Punjab it is Sukhbir Singh Badal's horse. The Shiromani Akali Dal chief has horses worth ₹95.82 lakh. Both he and his father Parkash Singh Badal, who at 94 is the oldest candidate in India, own only tractors and no cars, according to their affidavits.

Ban on rallies & road shows extended; physical poll meeting norms relaxed

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE Election Commission on Monday extended the ban on road shows, padyatras, vehicle rallies and processions till February 11 in the five poll-bound states, though it has given some relaxations in holding physical meetings with an increase in the number of attendees from existing 500 to 1,000, or 50 per cent of the capacity of the designated venue for all phases of polls from February 1.

Officials in the poll panel said Chief Election Commissioner (CEC) Sushil Chandra along with Election Commissioners Rajiv Kumar and Anup Chandra Pandey on Monday held a comprehensive review of the present situation of Covid-19 infection, particularly in Goa, Manipur, Punjab, Uttarakhand and Uttar Pradesh.

The meeting was attended by secretary of the Union Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, and chief secretaries and chief electoral officers of the five states.

Following the review meeting a senior official in the EC said, "No road shows, padyatras, vehicle rallies and processions shall be allowed till February 11, 2022."

He, however, said, "The panel has now decided to allow physical public meetings of political parties and contesting candidates in designated open spaces with a maximum of 1,000 persons (instead of existing 500 persons), or 50 per cent of the capacity of the ground or the prescribed limit, whichever number is lesser, from February 1 for all phases."

It has also been decided to enhance the limit for door-to-door campaigns. From February 1, instead of 10 persons, 20 persons, excluding security personnel, would be allowed for door-to-door campaigns.

For indoor meetings, parties would now be allowed gatherings of 500 people instead of 300, or 50 per cent of the capacity of the hall or the prescribed limit set by the state disaster management authority (SDMA). The official said, "It shall be the responsibility of the district electoral officer to notify the designated spaces in advance for such meetings."

FIRs for Covid protocol violations

KUMAR VIKRAM @New Delhi

THE Election Commission has received more than 25,000 complaints on its mobile application cVIGIL while nearly 23,500 FIRs have been filed in the five poll-bound states for various violations.

According to EC sources, more than 650 FIRs are related to violation of the model code of conduct (MCC) and over 260 FIRs are for Covid protocol violations. The poll panel had announced elections to the five state Assemblies on January 8. The model code of conduct came into force with immediate effect.

A senior official said citizens have been empowered through technological tools like cVIGIL app to report any case of violation of the MCC or attempts to bribe or intimidate voters. As on January 31, a total of 25,365 complaints were registered on cVIGIL and 22,257 were found to be true, which is 88% of total complaints.

The election machinery of the five states has been taking stringent action to ensure a level-playing field, said the official. Between January 9 and January 30, more than 23,500 FIRs have been filed across these five states under various sections of the IPC. Close to 17,000 FIRs were filed for violations under the Excise Act and NDPS Act which accounts for almost 70% of the total cases filed.

Field expenditure monitoring machinery has been instructed to intensify monitoring, the official added.

Relief after torturous 209 hours in PLA custody

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @Guwahati

IT was a torturous 209 hours in Chinese captivity for Arunachal Pradesh boy Miram Taron.

Hands tied and blindfolded all along, the teenager was allegedly administered "electric shock" and kicked in the back by his captors – People's Liberation Army (PLA).

He was "mentally-disturbed" on Monday and could not be reached. His father, Opang Taron, narrated the boy's nightmare. "He is mentally-disturbed after all that he had to go through. He told me that he was captured from the 'No Man's Land'. Soon, he was blindfolded and taken to a camp, which he thought, should be around 1 km away," Opang said.

Miram with his parents after he was brought back to his village by the Army

He said till minutes before the 17-year-old's handover to Indian Army in Kibithu area of Arunachal's Anjaw district on January 27, he was kept blindfolded with his hands tied.

The father said the PLA would remove the blindfold and free the hands only when the Class VIII dropout would eat or go out to answer nature's call.

"One day initially, he was kicked in the back thrice. He was also given shock with a lighter-like object," the man said quoting his son. "But he was fed well. Meat was invariably on the platter."

Hundreds of people received Miram at Tuting, 6 km away from his Zido village, on Monday when the Indian Army had brought him from Kibithu.

The PLA had picked up the teenager on January 18 when he and his friend ventured deep into a forest near the fuzzy India-China border to hunt wild animals.

Paper leak heats up Raj politics; 1 more held

RAJESH ASNANI @Jaipur

ONE more arrest has been made in connection with the REET paper leak case that has rocked Rajasthan. With the arrest of Pradeep Parashar, the coordinator of Rajasthan Eligibility Exam for Teachers (REET) in Jaipur, a political slugfest has erupted in the state. Parashar is alleged to be close to DP Jaroli, the chairman of Rajasthan Board of Secondary Education, who was sacked a few days ago by the Gehlot government.

The Special Operations Group of the state police will now grill both of them. The opposition BJP has mounted pressure on the Gehlot government, alleging that Technical Education Minister Subhash Garg is close to the two tainted officials. Meanwhile, as a fire fighting measure, the state government has formed a committee under a retired judge and asked it to submit a report on ways to prevent cheating in exams.

According to SOG sources, Parashar accused Jaroli of placing one Ramkripal Meena in the education department office complex. Meena, the alleged kingpin of the cheating racket, is the operator of a private school in Jaipur. When the police quizzed Meena, he told them that Parashar had taken out the question paper from the strong room of the education complex.

Senior BJP leader and Rajya Sabha MP Dr Kirori Lal Meena has demanded a CBI probe into the scam. He also made serious allegations against Subhash Garg, claiming that Parashar, Jaroli and Garg are close friends. However, Garg refuted the allegations saying he has nothing to do with the paper leak.

Patole lands in soup over Gandhi remarks

Maharashtra Congress president Nana Patole has abashed himself as well as his organisation over his improptu remark on Mahatma Gandhi. While speaking about fascist forces, Patole referred to Mahatma Gandhi's assassination as 'vadh' instead of 'hatya. The term 'vadh' refers to the slaying of evil while 'hatya' is assassination or murder. The Congress was quick to term the incident as a slip of tongue. The party chief and functionaries earlier had a hard time convincing the BJP and others that he did not use any unparliamentary words against Prime Minister Narendra Modi, claiming that he was referring a local goon who goes by the alias Modi.

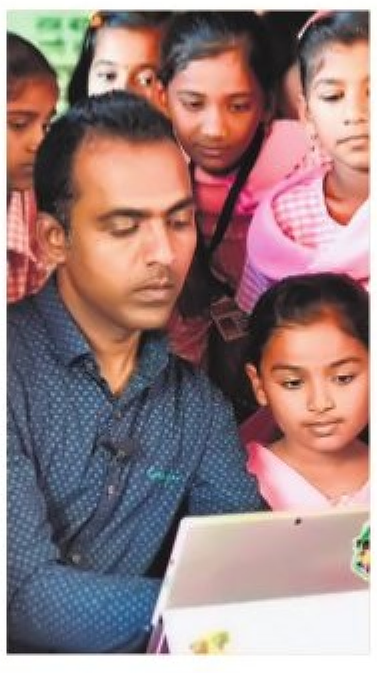
MVA looking to translate civic poll win into power

Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) won the highest number of seats in the local body elections even though the BJP has emerged as the single largest party. However, the three parties – Congress, NCP and the Shiv Sena – want to translate the victory by winning over maximum urban local bodies. Besides, NCP state chief Jayant Patil, Shiv Sena minister Subhash Desai and Congress state president Nana Patole have jointly issued a set of guidelines for their party members to follow. The trio is in process of realising the alliance dharma and consolidating power in maximum urban local bodies. The deal is to hand the urban local body top post to the party that wrests most seats there. The remaining alliance constituents will be accommodated in other lower positions.

Uddhav asks party cadre to learn from NCP

Shiv Sena's unsatisfactory show in the local body elections has visibly upset Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray, who has promised to reach out to the electorate as well as his party workers. He has even asked ministers and leaders from the party to work on the lines of the functioning exhibited by NCP. NCP had wrested power in over 50 seats this time. The CM also quoted the proverb 'charity begins from home' to put his point across. Taking the advice seriously, Aaditya Thackeray made visits to Aurangabad and Nasik recently to connect with voters and take up development works.



Star teacher falls from grace over lobbying

Spectators in the state have their jaws dropped over a revelation about the Global Teacher Prize-winning zila panchayat school teacher Ranjit Disale. Gained popularity for his innovative teaching methods including using QR codes in textbooks, the teacher was found to have sought a two-year leave to do research in the US. The teacher, who took home $1 billion in award money, was recently accused of lobbying for major government education contracts on behalf of the foundation which gives away the award. Now, questions are being raised as to whether the award was given to facilitate multi-crore government education contracts.

Russia, US square off at UN Security Council over Ukraine crisis

Russia accuses Washington of trying to stir 'hysteria' over Ukraine with UN meeting; US secretary of state expected to hold talks with Russian counterpart today

UNITED NATIONS

THE United States and Russia squared off on Monday in the UN Security Council, where Moscow lost an attempt to block a public meeting on Moscow's troop buildup near Ukraine's borders and Western fears of an invasion.

US Ambassador Linda Thomas-Greenfield dismissed a charge by Russian Ambassador Vassily Nebenzia that Washington was trying "to whip up hysterics" and use "megaphone diplomacy" by calling the first Security Council meeting on the crisis.

"Imagine how uncomfortable you would be if you had 100,000 troops on your border," Thomas-Greenfield said.

The vote on holding an open meeting passed 10-2, with Russia and China opposed, and three abstentions. The vote needed nine votes to be approved.

UN Undersecretary-General for Political Affairs Rosemary DiCarlo then went ahead with an open briefing, to be followed by speeches from the 15 council members.

US President Joe Biden said in a statement that the meeting was "a critical step in rallying the world to speak out in one voice" to reject the use of force, seek military de-escalation, support diplomacy and demand accountability from every member "to refrain from military aggression against its neighbours." The session kicked off more high-level diplomacy this week, although talks between the US and Russia have so far failed to ease tensions in the crisis. Russia has massed the estimated 100,000 troops near the borders of its southern neighbour, stoking fears in the West of an invasion.

Russia denies it intends to launch an attack but demanded that NATO promise never to allow Ukraine to join the alliance, halt the deployment of NATO weapons near Russian borders, and roll back its forces from Eastern Europe. NATO and the US call those demands impossible.

Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov and US Secretary of State Antony Blinken didn't make any visible progress in easing the tensions at their meeting in Geneva earlier this month. They are expected to speak by phone on Tuesday, according to the Russian Foreign Ministry.

British Prime Minister Boris Johnson will visit Ukraine on Tuesday for talks with Zelenskyy, and will also speak with Russian President Vladimir Putin, to urge him to "step back," Johnson's office said. Johnson says he is considering sending hundreds of British troops to NATO countries in the Baltic region as a show of strength.

Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov said on Monday that "hysteria promoted by Washington triggers hysteria in Ukraine, where people are almost starting to pack their bags for the front line."

While Russia could try to block the Security Council meeting if it gets the support of nine of the 15 members, the US was confident it had "more than sufficient support" to hold it, according to a senior official in the Biden administration who spoke on condition of anonymity because he was not authorized to talk publicly. Any formal action by the Security Council is extremely unlikely, given Russia's veto power and its ties with others on the council, including China. AP

BIDEN WARNS RUSSIA OF 'SEVERE' FALLOUT

Washington: US President Joe Biden warned Russia on Monday not to "walk away from diplomacy" as the UN Security Council met to address Moscow's deployment of more than 100,000 troops on Ukraine's border. "If Russia is sincere about addressing our respective security concerns through dialogue, the United States and our Allies and partners will continue to engage in good faith," Biden said in a statement. "If instead Russia chooses to walk away from diplomacy and attack Ukraine, Russia will bear the responsibility, and it will face swift and severe consequences," he said.AFP

UKRAINIAN WOMEN TAKE UP ARMS

Some women in the Ukrainian city of Kharkiv have vowed to take up arms to defend their nation if there is a Russian invasion and are already training in the use of military weapons. Svetlana Putilina, the head of an organisation for Muslim women in Kharkiv, spends her weekends training with other women how to aim, load and fire automatic rifles and other weapons. Kharkiv, just 40 kilometres from the border with Russia, is Ukraine's second-most populous city and some fear it could be one of the first targets in a cross-border attack. "This city has to be protected. (Russia) has a big appetite and they are taking piece by piece. This should not happen," said 55-year-old Viktoria Balesina. AP

2 police officers shot dead in Germany

Berlin: Two police officers were shot dead on a rural road in western Germany while on a routine patrol early on Monday, police said. Two suspects were detained hours later. The shooting happened during a traffic check near Kusel at about 4:20am. The officers radioed that shots were being fired. But reinforcements who arrived at the scene were unable to help the 24-year-old woman and 29-year-old man. AP

Taliban killed 100 former Afghan govt officials, others, finds report

UNITED NATIONS

THE Taliban and their allies have killed more than 100 security and civilian personnel linked to the former US-backed Afghan government since seizing power in August, according to a new United Nations report. The report describes severe curtailing of human rights by Afghanistan's fundamentalist new rulers.

Taliban officials on Monday rejected the claims, insisting that the reported deaths were linked to "personal enmity" cases and were under investigation. "The Islamic Emirate has not killed anyone since the amnesty was announced," the interior ministry said on Twitter.

The UN report said, in addition to the political killings, women's freedoms and the right to protest had also been curbed.Despite the Taliban's promise of general amnesties, the United Nations Assistance Mission for Afghanistan "continued to receive credible allegations of killings, enforced disappearances, and other violations", the report said. AP

Eco Survey: Imported inflation 'worrying'

Surging global energy prices add to input cost in manufacturing, container shortage. port delays disrupting trade

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

INDIA needs to be wary of imported inflation, especially from elevated global energy prices, according to the Economic Survey released on Monday.

The high inflation rate reported in the manufactured group in the WPI index is significantly attributable to "imported inflation" resulting from high prices of imported inputs, the Survey noted.

Talking about global inflation, the survey says the surge in energy prices, non-food commodities, input prices, disruption of global supply chains, and rising freight costs stoked it during the year. In India, Consumer Price Index (CPI) inflation moderated to 5.2% in 2021-22 (Apr-Dec) from 6.6% in the corresponding period of 2020-21.

However, the wholesale price-based inflation, which is more sensitive to cost-push inflation led by imported inputs, surged to a more than a decade high of 14.23% in November 2021. "The inflation in the 'fuel and power' group of WPI was above 20% reflecting higher international petroleum prices," the survey says, adding, although the high WPI inflation is partly due to base effects that will even out, India does need to be wary of this imported inflation in particular.

The country imports most of the crude oil it uses. When the general price level rises in a country because of the rise in the prices of imported commodities, it is termed as imported inflation.

"While inflation in food items in India remained under control because of supply-side management, high global prices of manufacturing items have had an impact on the domestic prices, especially basic metals," the survey explains.

Citing the example of cotton, it says India is a major producer, consumer, and exporter of cotton, therefore, the prices of domestic cotton and international prices are closely linked. International cotton prices have been showing an upward trend since May 2020.

In addition to the surge in global inflation, longer port delays, higher freight rates, shortage of shipping containers continue to disrupt global trade.

Global container shortage will remain a persistent problem, the Survey said. The stress in the container shortages can be captured in the Drewry's Composite World Container Index, which stands at $9,698.33 per 40ft container as of 20th January 2022. This is $6,656 higher than the 5-year average and 82% higher than a year earlier.

Auto manufacturers had backlog of 7 lakh cars due to semiconductor shortage

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

DUE to global shortage of semiconductors, Indian car manufacturers had a cumulative pendency of over 7 lakh orders as of December 2021, the Economic Survey 2022 revealed.

With the delay in supply, the average lead time in the automobile industry for 2021 has been around 14 weeks globally. India has also experienced similar trends in the automobile sector, the report said.

As per data from the Society of Indian Automobile Manufacturers (SIAM), carmakers sold 219,421 passenger vehicles in the domestic market in December 2021, down 13% (YoY). This is not a demand problem but a supply-side issue, said the survey.

While fall in PV sales can be attributed to supply side constraints that have resulted in lower production, record fall in two-wheeler sales is linked to rising petrol prices, lower purchasing power and rural distress. Sales of two-wheelers in the Q3FY22 was lowest in 9 years, as per Siam data.

Citing a report by investment bank Goldman Sachs, the survey noted that that the supply chain disruptions in the semiconductor industry have spillovers in over 169 industries. "The manufacturing of semiconductors requires large amount of capital and has an average gestation period of 6-9 months. Moreover, it has a fairly long production cycle of about 18-20 weeks. Hence, any recovery from the supply chain disruptions will be a slow and costly affair," the survey noted.

According to data issued by carmakers and industry sources, India's largest carmaker Maruti Suzuki had more than 240,000 pending customer orders at the end of the December quarter. The company had last week informed that though still unpredictable, the electronics supply situation is improving gradually. MSIL hopes to increase production in March quarter, though it would not reach full capacity. Hyundai, Tata Motors and Mahindra had around 1 lakh pending orders each in December.

Delhi replaces Bengaluru as start-up capital

Over 5,000 start-ups added

Over 5,000 start-ups were added in Delhi compared to 4,514 start-ups in Bengaluru between April 2019 and December 2021. Maharashtra, with a total of 11,308 start-ups, has the highest number of recognised start-ups, according to the Economic Survey. India has more than 61,400 start-ups as of January 10, 2022

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ Bengaluru

DELHI has replaced Bengaluru as the start-up capital of India. Over 5,000 recognised start-ups were added in Delhi compared to 4,514 start-ups in Bengaluru between April 2019 and December 2021.

Meanwhile, Maharashtra, with a total of 11,308 start-ups, has the highest number of recognised start-ups, according to the Economic Survey 2021-2022. India has more than 61,400 start-ups as of January 10, 2022. In 2021 alone, the government has recognised over 14,000 new start-ups compared to 733 new start-ups during 2016-17.

NCR has been witnessing an increase in funding activity in CY2021. This was driven by start-ups such as Pine Labs, OfBusiness, Cars24, BharatPe and Delhivery. According to a recent PwC report, fintech, e-commerce (B2C) and SaaS were the key sectors attracting investments.

In 2021, as many as 44 start-ups reached the unicorn status, thereby emerging as the third highest country in number of unicorns after the US and China. The US and China added 487 and 301 unicorns, respectively in 2021. As of January 14, 2022, India has 83 unicorns with a total valuation of $277.77 billion, and most of these start-ups are in the services sector.

Also, a majority of the country's start-ups are in the IT/knowledge-based sector. Over the past three years, the number of start-ups in the space sector has increased from 11 in 2019 to 47 in 2021.

Since ISRO/DOS doesn't register any start-ups, around 75 start-ups are shown under the space technology category in the startupindia portal. Besides, some of the start-ups registered under other categories are also involved in the space domain, the survey added.

During 2021, 555 districts had at least one new start-up. On the other hand, only 121 districts had at least 1 new start-up in 2016-17.

REVISED ESTIMATES

Growth shrinks by 6.6%; FY21 real GDP at ₹135.58 lakh cr

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

INDIA'S GDP contracted by only 6.6% in 2020-21 as against 7.3% contraction shown in the provisional estimates.

According to the first revised estimate of the National Statistical Office (NSO), the real GDP for the years 2020-21 and 2019-20 stands at ₹135.58 lakh crore and ₹145.16 lakh crore, respectively, showing a contraction of 6.6% during 2020-21 as compared to growth of 3.7% in 2019-20.

This means the real GDP growth in 2019-20 has also been revised downward from 4% to 3.7%. The real GDP growth in 2018-19 was also revised downward by 7 basis points to 6%.

Nominal GDP for the year 2020-21 is estimated at ₹198.01 lakh crore as against ₹200.75 lakh crore for the year 2019-20, showing a contraction of 1.4% during 2020-21 as compared to growth of 6.2% during 2019-20.

The real GDP is calculated based on 2011-12 prices of products while nominal GDP is calculated based on current prices of products and services. These revisions could impact the 2021-22 growth estimates. The Economic Survey report has pegged the real GDP growth at 9.2% based on earlier 2020-21 GDP growth estimates. However, now with a higher base, economists believe the real GDP growth in 2021-22 could be lower than 9%.

"When compared with the revised estimate for FY2021, the First Advance Estimate for GDP for FY2022 implies a lower growth of 8.8%. This is closer to our forecast of the GDP expansion in FY2022, following the mild disruption caused by the third wave," says Aditi Nayar, Chief Economist at ICRA.

Nominal GDP at ₹198 L cr

Nominal GDP for 2020-21 is estimated at ₹198.01 lakh cr as against ₹200.75 lakh cr for 2019-20, showing a contraction of 1.4% during 2020-21 as compared to growth of 6.2% during 2019-20.

Govt approves sale of NINL to Tata Steel for ₹12,100 crore

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@New Delhi

THE government on Monday informed that it has approved sale of loss-making Neelachal Ispat Nigam Ltd (NINL) to TataSteel Long Products Ltd (TSPL) for ₹12,100 crore.

Neelachal Ispat is a joint venture of CPSEs namely MMTC, NMDC, BHEL, MECON and two Odisha government-owned PSUs — OMC and IPICOL.

"The government approves strategic buyer for NINL located in Odisha. The highest bid of ₹12,100 crore by M /s Tata Steel Long Products Ltd is accepted," DIPAM Secretary Tuhin Kanta Pandey tweeted.

NINL has an integrated steel plant with a capacity of 1.1 MT, at Kalinganagar, Odisha. The plant has been closed since 30 March 2020. This is the first instance of privatisation of a public sector steel manufacturing enterprise in India. NINL has huge debt and liabilities exceeding ₹6,600 crore as on 31 March 2021, including huge overdues of promoters (₹4,116 crore), banks (₹1,741 crore), other creditors and employees. The company has negative networth of ₹3,487 crore and accumulated losses of ₹4,228 crore.

The transaction was made through an open-market, competitive bidding process towards the enterprise value of the company.

Airtel acquires 25% stake in Lavelle Networks

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

BHARTI Airtel on Monday announced an agreement to acquire 25% equity stake in Bengaluru-based technology start-up Lavelle Networks. The home-grown Lavelle Networks specialises in software-defined wide area network (SD-WAN) solutions.

"As more enterprises move to cloud-based applications to serve their customers in a digital-first eco system… there is a surge in demand for software defined solutions that have the agility to serve a cloud-based hybrid IT environment," said Airtel.

Airtel Business' Network as a Service (NaaS) is a digital platform, which addresses the connectivity requirements of enterprises as they go through the cloud and digital adoption. As part of its NaaS portfolio, Airtel will offer software defined connectivity solutions from Lavelle Networks and co-create a host of innovations.

"We are pleased to support Lavelle's growth journey and excited to collaborate with them to take their world-class solutions to enterprise customers in the fast growing Indian NaaS market," Ajay Chitkara, Director and CEO of Airtel Business. Shyamal Kumar, co-founder and CEO, Lavelle Networks, said, "We are extremely excited that our product and early market success will now be massively accelerated by this transformational partnership."

GST collection crosses ₹1.38 lakh cr in January

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

AHEAD of the annual Budget, the central government has some reasons to cheer on the tax revenue front.

The monthly GST collections in January 2022 crossed ₹1.30 lakh crore for the fourth time in the history of GST. The collections in January 2022 till 3 pm on 31 January 2022 was at ₹1,38,394 crore just shy of the ₹1.40 lakh crore.

January 2022 collections were 15% higher than collections in the same month last year and 25% higher than the GST revenues in Jan 2020, said a finance ministry statement.

Of the ₹1,38,394 crore, CGST accounted for ₹24,674 crore, SGST ₹32,016 crore, IGST ₹72,030 crore (including ₹35,181 crore collected on import of goods) and compensation cess accounted for ₹9,674 crore (including ₹517 crore collected on import of goods).

The highest monthly GST collection has been ₹1,39,708 crore in the month of April 2021. The finance ministry attributed the robust growth in GST collection to economic recovery and anti-evasion activities, especially action against fake billers. The improvement in revenue has also been due to rate rationalisation measures.

Fiscal deficit at 50% of target

Helped by strong tax collection and subdued spending growth, the government has been able to keep the fiscal deficit on check. In the first nine months (April-December 2021) of the current financial year, the Centre's fiscal deficit has reached only 50.4% of the budget target of ₹15 lakh crore.

UCO BANK PROFIT UP MULTI-FOLD

UCO Bank on Monday reported a multi-fold jump in net profit at ₹310.39 crore for the third quarter ended December 2021 as bad loans came down during that period. It had posted a net profit of ₹35.44 crore in the same quarter of the previous fiscal. The Kolkata-based public sector lender's net interest income during the quarter increased 25% to ₹1,763 cr against ₹1,407 cr in the year-ago period. The bank's total income rose to ₹4,638.44 cr against ₹4,468.88 cr in the year-ago period.

Tata Motors posts Q3 loss at ₹1,451 cr; 9 months loss surpasses ₹10,000-cr mark

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ Bengaluru

HIT by the global semiconductor shortage crisis, Tata Motors (including Jaguar Land Rover) on Monday reported ₹1,451 crore consolidated net loss in the December ending quarter Q3FY22 as against ₹2,941 crore profit reported in the same quarter last year. The last quarter loss, however, is lower than Q2FY22 loss which stood at ₹4,442 crore. With this, Tata Motors losses have now swelled to ₹10,317 crore in the first nine month of going financial year.

The total revenue from operations came in at ₹72,229.29 crore in Q3FY22, down 4.52% against ₹75,653.79 crore in the corresponding quarter last year. The company's operating margin also witnessed an annual slump of 4.60% during the quarter.

Tata Motors' global sales stood at 286,024 units this December quarter as against 274,172 units in the year-ago period, down 4.3%.

Tata Motors said that JLR remained constrained by chip shortages with retail sales of 80,126 vehicles, down 37.6% over Q3 FY21. It added that the chip supply situation is gradually improving with production volumes of 72,184 units, up 41% over Q2 FY22. "Whilst semiconductor supplies have continued to constrain sales this quarter, we continue to see very strong demand for our products underlining the desirability of our vehicles," said Thierry Bolloré, Jaguar Land Rover's Chief Executive Officer.

Markets rebound ahead of Budget on buying from DIIs

THE Nifty and the Sensex rebounded on domestic institutional buying and derivatives short-covering by foreign investors a day ahead of the Union Budget, even as the latter continued selling in the cash market.

The Nifty and the Sensex rose by 1.4% each led by gains in tech and financial services stocks. Nifty closed up 238 points at 17339.85 while Sensex gained 814 points to close at 58014.17.

Tech Mahindra, Wipro, Bajaj Finserv, Infy and SBI led the gains on Sensex even as the Economic Survey forecast economic growth of 9.2% this fiscal and 8-8.5% in FY23, subject to crude trading at $70-75 a barrel. The FY23 projection is higher than what most foreign brokerages forecast growth closer to the lower end of the Economic Survey's range.

DIIs enthused by the Survey's growth projection purchased shares worth a provisional ₹3,649 crore as FIIs sold a provisional ₹3,624 crore, taking up their cash market sales to ₹36,927 cr so far this month.

Fhe FIIs reduced their cumulative net shorts on index futures by 15106 contracts, aiding the Nifty's rise. ENS

Adani Wilmar subscribed 17 times; grey market premium falls

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

ADANI Wilmar's IPO (initial public offering) saw over 17 times more subscribtion than shares on offer. The issue garnered bids for over 212 crore shares, worth over ₹48,000 crore, as against an offer size of 12.25 shares.

The subscription was led by high networth individuals (HNI) as this category got subscribed by 56 times. The qualified institutional buyer (QIB) portion of the IPO was subscribed 5.73 times, while the shareholder category saw 33 times subscription. Employee quota remained undersubscribed at 51%.

Likhita Chepa, senior research analyst at CapitalVia Global Research said that investors can subscribe this issue for long term while short-term investors can consider booking profits after 35 to 40% return in one year. She added, "Considering the current GMP and prevailing volatility in the market, investors who have subscribed the issue for listing gains can expect 15 to 18% gains on the listing day."

According to another senior analyst, the on-going bearish sentiments in equity market and slew of tepid listing in recent past has already impacted GMP (grey market premium) of Adani Wilmar, meaning the listing gain would not be in high double digit figure.

The GMP has declined about 50% in a week, from a high of ₹70 per share to ₹23 on Thursday.

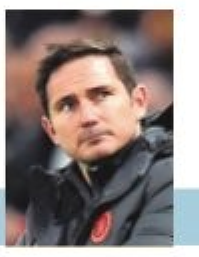
Eriksen set for return, Everton unveil Lampard



Christian Eriksen made a remarkable return to football on Monday by signing for Brentford while Everton announced Frank Lampard as their new manager on a busy transfer deadline day for Premier League clubs. Eriksen suffered a cardiac arrest on the pitch while playing for Denmark at last year's Euro 2020.

Controversial start, Grand finish

After off-court issues concerning Djokovic, Nadal & Barty give Oz Open a happy ending

AFP @ Melbourne

AN Australian Open like no other began in controversy with the deportation of Novak Djokovic but culminated in one of the greatest comebacks in tennis history by Rafael Nadal on Sunday. Throw in Ashleigh Barty becoming the first home winner for 44 years, and local heroes Nick Kyrgios and Thanasi Kokkinakis winning the men's doubles, this was a Grand Slam that will live long in the memory for myriad reasons.

After the chaos that preceded the tournament, Tennis Australia couldn't have dreamt of a happier ending — and it was one they desperately needed, after a competition riddled with unforced errors on the organisers' parts. It began with the spectacle of the nine-time Australian Open champion Djokovic being detained in a notorious immigration hotel, suffering multiple court cases and eventual deportation — shocking no matter which side you sit in the Covid-19 vaccination debate.

When the first serve at Melbourne Park was struck on January 17, the world number one was in a Dubai airport transit lounge waiting for his connecting flight home to Belgrade. It wasn't just the Djokovic saga that cast a shadow over the first Grand Slam tournament of 2022. Tennis Australia had to make a hasty and embarrassing U-turn after instructing staff to prevent spectators wearing "Where is Peng Shuai?" T-shirts to highlight concern for the Chinese player. They also had to justify a largely voluntary Covid-19 testing protocol that came in for criticism from some players, notably world number three Alexander Zverev.

> I feel honoured, I feel lucky to achieve one more very special thing in my tennis career. I don't care much if I am the one or not the one, or the best of the history, not the best of the history.
> —Rafael Nadal

They may count themselves extremely lucky that there were only a handful of virus cases. Tennis Australia will no doubt bask in the glory of their two historic champions, Nadal and Barty. Tournament director Craig Tiley was beaming through his mask during the presentation ceremonies.

But as a central figure in the pre-tournament chaos he, or his successor, must make sure the extraordinary scenes in the run-up to the tournament are never repeated. Crowds were back in numbers after days of pandemic-enforced empty arenas the year before, but spectators came in for flak for their raucous behaviour.

Kyrgios's opponents in particular complained of yobbish jeering, whipped up by the Australian bad boy.

RANJI TROPHY

BCCI set to tweak new format due to short window

VENKATA KRISHNA B @ Chennai

THE upcoming Ranji Trophy season which is likely to begin on February 16 and run till March 5 will be a curtailed season. With the window available being a short one, the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) is tweaking what was already a new format, which will see 38 teams divided into eight groups of four each and the Plate league comprising six teams. The matches will be played in nine venues with the board already informing few state units unofficially about the groupings.

The BCCI has altered the format as it is racing against time to host the event. According to the earlier format, which was introduced this season because of Covid protocols, there were five Elite Groups with six teams each and eight teams were clubbed in the Plate group. As per this format, the top six gained entry into quarterfinals, with six second-placed teams in the group playing pre-quarterfinals with the topper of Plate group.

With the BCCI deciding to split the Ranji Trophy into two phases after it suspended the season on January 4, it needed 32 days to finish the group stages. The knockouts are scheduled to be played in June. While it is still possible to get 32 days if it begins on February 16, the BCCI has decided to further tweak the format and keep it short so that it can complete the league stages in just 18 days. In the new format, top eight teams will advance to a Super Eight stage, where they will be divided into two groups and will play in a round-robin format once.

Ymer bros hoping for Swede hit

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@ Chennai

THE recent ATP success stories of Italy and Russia are well chronicled. There are four Russians in the top 30 (joint best with Spain) and eight Italians in the top 100 (one of the highest in terms of representation from a single country). They have both had Major champions in the men's side in the past but they haven't had this much presence in the top end of the sport at the same time. A country like Sweden is witnessing the opposite effect. Bjorn Borg, Mats Wilander, Stefan Edberg, Thomas Johansson and, more recently, Robin Soderling... between them they produced multiple Slam champions or final appearances. But post Soderling's French Open run in 2010, somebody switched off the conveyor belt.

Sweden have only two in the top 200. Admittedly, the pair, the Ymers, have garnered a lot of attention since they started playing professionally. Mikael, World No 83, is no stranger to tennis fans. The 23-year-old has enjoyed some runs but is still waiting for a 'take notice of me' moment. Mikael's brother, Elias, is also waiting for such a moment that could potentially propel him into the wider tennis community.

TA MOTORS
ecting aspirations

Elias Ymer | TATA OPEN MAHARASHTRA

Currently in India for the Tata Open, Elias ticked a box when he qualified for the main draw of the ATP 250 event after a relatively straightforward 6-4, 6-4 win over Marc Polmans in the second qualifying round.

In a way, the Ymers stories are unique because of how they landed up in Sweden and ended up becoming professional tennis players. A bit of background: Elias' father, Wondoesen, who moved to Sweden from Ethiopia as an 18-year-old, was a professional runner. And he wanted to turn both Elias and Mikael into professional runners. Something that Elias hated. "My parents, they come from Ethiopia where there is a tradition in running," the 25-year-old says. "When I was 5, my father wanted me to run all the time. I was crying everyday because I didn't like running. I didn't know how tennis happened to be honest." What he remembers though is that his father used to watch a lot of tennis on TV after making the move to Sweden.

Select results (Rd 1): Yuki Bhambri bt Josef Kovalik 6-7 (10), 6-2, 7-5, Qunetin Halys bt Ricardas Berankis 6-1, 6-2.

PVL can create talent pool for India: B'luru Torpedoes coach

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AS THE Prime Volleyball League (PVL) inches closer with the competition starting from February 5 in Hyderabad, teams are in the final stage of their preparations. Bengaluru Torpedoes, one of the seven teams in the league, have been putting in some hard yards in Mysuru since January 10. Currently, they are preparing for the league inside a bio-bubble in Hyderabad, where their foreign players have also joined. They will open their campaign against Kochi Blue Spikers on February 8.

Torpedoes coach KR Lakshminarayana believes that the tournament is a good platform for the young players to showcase their talent as well. "We have several youngsters in our squad who can become top players in the future. This tournament will also give opportunities to these young talents to mix with the senior Indian players and hence, it will help in creating a solid talent pool for Indian team, which will be beneficial for the sport," Lakshminarayana said.

The tournament, which was shifted from Kochi to Hyderabad due to the Covid-19 situation, will be played in 15-points system. It is a single round-robin format too with the top four making it to the semifinals. Team owner Ankit Nagori is looking beyond the current season. "Our idea currently is to get a good bunch together and back them in the seasons ahead and really nurture the talent," Nagori said.

EXPRESS READ

Ogbeche tops ISL chart as Hyderabad record win

FATORDA: Bartholomew Ogbeche scored a brace to take him top of the charts in the ISL's all-time scorers' list and also ensure Hyderabad FC a 5-0 win over NorthEast United FC here. Ogbeche scored in the third and 60th minute to take his tally to 14 goals this season and overall number to 49, one more than Sunil Chhetri and Ferran Corominas.

Debutants India post big victory in FIH Pro League

MUSCAT: Sushila Chanu scored a brace as India women's hockey team made a grand debut at Pro League, thrashing China 7-1 in first game of the two-leg tie. Chanu (47', 52') converted two penalty strokes while Navneet Kaur (5'), Neha (12'), Vandana Katariya (40'), Sharmila Devi (48') and Gurjit Kaur (50') netted one each.

IOC urges IOA factions to fix matters

INDRANEEL DAS @ Chennai

THE Indian Olympic Association is going through a torrid time. There are two distinctive factions — one led by its president Narinder Batra and the other by secretary-general Rajeev Mehta and a truce seems out of bounds. Despite International Olympic Committee's directive last month, the IOA could not sit down and finalise the constitution nor could it send to the IOC for approval.

The IOC is "closely" following the development too. It had sent a letter before the annual general meeting in December, where it said that the IOA should conduct its elections "latest by January 2022". However, after even January 27 hearing, the matter is still unresolved and is still in the Delhi High Court. Though elections could not be held as directed by the IOC, no drastic step is expected by the IOC as of now.

In reply to queries sent by this newspaper, the IOC on Sunday said that it is keeping a close watch on the situation."The IOC is monitoring the situation of the Indian Olympic Association (IOA) closely," said the IOC in reply to a mail. Calling the situation unfortunate, IOC has also urged all parties to act responsibly. "Unfortunately, the IOA elections have been postponed due to legal action initiated before Indian Courts. The IOC has urged all parties involved to act responsibly, in the interest of the Olympic and Sport Movement in India, and to find an amicable and appropriate solution so that the IOA elections can take place as soon as possible." Though there have been suggestions regarding its constitution by a court-appointed official, the IOC is not saying anything about compromising its autonomy due to external interference as of now.

As the world is nearing 10 billion Covid vaccinations, 91 weakest countries have received their one billionth dose in January 2022—a major milestone that came far later than anticipated after a year of setbacks. The Covax scheme delivered this billionth dose and sees a new front in 2022: Smoothing the supply chain—from a reliable stream off the production lines to efficient distribution set-ups in recipient countries. Here is a quick update on the Covax scheme

EXFILE • COVID

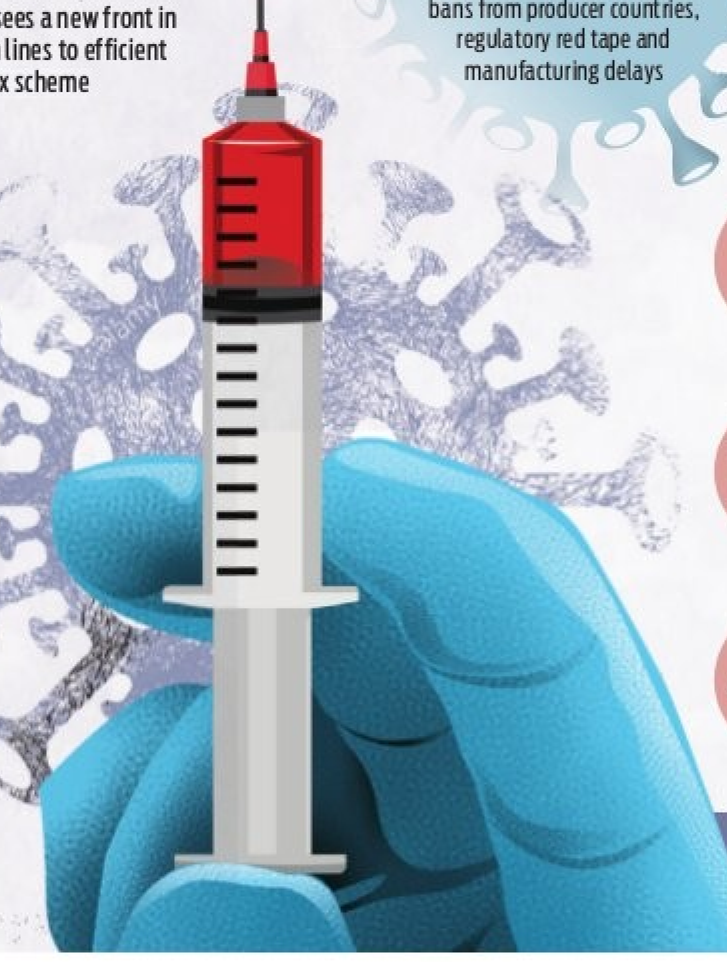
Covax has its battlelines drawn for this year

COVAX SCHEME

The facility is co-led by the World Health Organization (WHO); the Gavi vaccine alliance, which handles procurement; and CEPI, the Coalition for Epidemic Preparedness Innovations, which invests in prospective vaccines

$5.2 billion

Covax, in January 2022, had called for $5.2 billion over the next three months to steady the ship this year



Challenge in 2021

The major hurdle last year was getting hold of doses—besides rich countries cornering most of the vaccine supply, it faced export bans from producer countries, regulatory red tape and manufacturing delays

600 million dose pool

To face the new challenges that might arise, Covax wants to build a pool of 600 million doses to ensure a reliable supply, and to cover eventual variables such as boosters or new variant-specific vaccines. It also needs to support readiness and delivery in poorer nations, and cover the costs of syringes and transportation

Donor dependency

Rather than bulk-bought jabs, the scheme ended up relying on doses donated by wealthy nations, which too often were about to expire and couldn't be used in time

45% of the population

Covax reckons it has enough confirmed vaccine supplies to jab 45%of the population in the poorest 91 economies

WHO SAYS 70%

The health organisation wants 70% population fully jabbed in every country by July this year to end the acute phase of Covid—a much bigger stretch, given how far behind many countries are, especially in Africa, where more than 85% of people are yet to receive a single dose

109 countries

At the current pace of vaccine roll-out, 109 countries will miss the mid-2022 target, said WHO

VACCINES ADMINISTERED SO FAR

A billion doses were administered so far. Here is a breakup of the vaccines used

TOP 4 RECIPIENTS

> I think we'll still have rocky supply for the next six months or so and I'm a little worried, frankly, if there are new variant vaccines, that we might have an inequity 2.0 — Seth Berkley, Gavi chief

8 vaccines | There are eight WHO-approved vaccines. The latest is a major CEPI-funded vaccine, Novavax, which could do much of the heavy lifting in 2022

People could remain Covid carriers for a month

A recent study found that 8% of people could infect others for more than 2 months; some even for 232 days

Japan starts mass Covid boosters as cases soar

Tokyo has launched a mass inoculation drive for booster shots as Japan tries to speed up delayed third jabs to counter surging infections. Japan began administering booster shots to medical workers in December, but has only provided such inoculations to 2.7% of the population

Germany to miss 80% vaccine target by Jan end

Germany is set to miss a target of giving at least one shot of Covid vaccine to 80% of the population by the end of January. Official statistics on Monday showed that 75.8% of Germany's 83 million residents have received at least one shot, 74% are fully vaccinated and 52.8% have also received a booster

WASHINGTON: Some people infected with SARS-CoV-2 may be able to transmit the virus for longer than the recommended quarantine period, without necessarily manifesting any symptoms during the final stage of the infection, a study suggests.

The research, published recently in the journal Frontiers in Medicine, involved 38 Brazilian patients who were followed on a weekly basis between April and November 2020.

The researchers affiliated with the Pasteur-USP Scientific Platform, a partnership between France's Pasteur Institute, the University of Sao Paulo (USP) and Oswaldo Cruz Foundation (Fiocruz) in Brazil, followed the patients until they tested negative twice or three times consecutively by RT-qPCR.

They found that it took a month on average for the diagnostic test to become negative.

"Of the 38 cases we tracked, two men and a woman were atypical in the sense that the virus was continuously detected in their organism for more than 70 days," said Marielton dos Passos Cunha, first author of the research.

"Based on this result, we can say that about 8% of people infected by SARS-CoV-2 may be able to transmit the virus for more than two months, without necessarily manifesting any symptoms during the final stage of the infection," Passos Cunha said.

The researchers wanted to know if a period of 14 days was really long enough for the virus to stop being detectable, concluding that it was not.

"It can take a month for a patient to test negative, and in some cases included in our study the patients remained positive for 71 to 232 days," said Paola Minoprio, one of the coordinators of the Platform and principal investigator for the study.

Rapid diagnostic system for Covid

LOSANGELES: US scientists have developed a rapid, sensitive diagnostic system, consisting of an app and a testing kit, to detect SARS-CoV-2, its variants and the flu virus. Developed by researchers at the University of California, the system can provide a platform for inexpensive home-based testing. It can be readily adapted for other pathogens with pandemic potential including deadly variants of SARS-CoV-2 and flu, they said. The system, described in the journal JAMA Network Open, succeeded in achieving accurate diagnosis of Covid-19, SARS-CoV-2 variants, and flu viruses.

Cyberattacks in US schools

Cyberattacks like the one that canceled classes for two days in Albuquerque's biggest school district have become a growing threat to US schools, with several high-profile incidents reported since last year. And the pandemic has compounded their effects: More money has been demanded, and more schools have had to shut down as they scramble to recover data or even manually wipe all laptops. "Pretty much any way that you cut it, incidents have both been growing more frequent and more significant," said Doug Levin, director of the K12 Security Information Exchange, a Virginia-based nonprofit that helps schools defend against cybersecurity risk. Precise data is hard to come by since most schools are not required to publicly report cyberattacks. But experts say public school systems have become an inviting target for ransomware gangs. Hager, an art teacher, said that the cyberattack increased the stress on campus in ways that many parents couldn't foresee.

FACT OF THE MATTER

Spotify to link content to facts

TECHNOLOGY

Music streaming giant Spotify announced on Sunday that it would start guiding listeners of podcasts discussing Covid-19 to facts about the pandemic, after artists including Neil Young pulled their songs from the platform in anger at misinformation. The artists, also including Joni Mitchell, last week demanded that the streaming app remove their music or drop podcaster Joe Rogan after a call from medical professionals to prevent Rogan from promoting "several falsehoods about Covid-19 vaccines". The Duke and Duchess of Sussex have also flagged concerns over misinformation on Spotify, but reiterated their commitment to continue using it to publish their content. "We are working to add a content advisory to any podcast episode that includes a discussion about Covid-19," Spotify CEO Daniel Ek said.

Oil leak in the Amazon jungle

ENVIRONMENT

Ecuador said it was monitoring the progress of an operation to clean up an oil leak in the Amazon jungle that threatens to pollute a river. Heavy rains caused a mudslide in the eastern Napo province on Friday. A rock struck and ruptured an oil pipeline resulting in the leak of a "huge quantity" of oil, a ministry official said. The environment ministry said on Sunday that it was continuing to "verify that the contingency, cleaning and remediation activities in the affected area are being carried out adequately." Owner OCP Ecuador said on Sunday it had begun repairing the broken pipeline and that "crude oil has been collected in retention pools to be taken to the Lago Agrio station in tanker trucks." OCP's executive president Jorge Vugdelija blamed the incident on "force majeure."

Birds of a feather flock together: Story of raptor-rescuing brothers in the capital

ENVIRONMENT

NEW DELHI: Nursed back from near death, a skittish vulture flaps its wings and returns to the grey skies above India's capital after weeks of tender care from two devoted brothers.

New Delhi is home to a magnificent array of predatory birds, but untold numbers are maimed each week by kite strings, cars and other grave encounters with human activity. A fortunate few are found and cared for by Nadeem Shehzad and Mohammad Saud, siblings who run a rescue group devoted to injured creatures at the top of the avian food chain. Both men are fighting an uphill battle: their patients are considered ill omens, and few donors are willing to shell out in support of Wildlife Rescue, their shoestring operation on the city's outskirts.

"They are not liked by many. Sometimes people hate them," Shehzad, 44, tells AFP. When they were younger, the brothers found an injured predatory bird and carted it to a veterinary hospital—one caring exclusively for herbivores— only to despair at the staff's refusal to treat it. Eventually, they began taking similarly hurt birds home to help them recover.

Rescued kites kept in a cage at the Wildlife Rescue, an NGO in New Delhi | AFP

"Some of the birds started flying back into the wild, and that gave us much-needed confidence," Shehzad said.

Now, on the roof of their small office, a huge aviary hosts a colourful assortment of raptors in various states of convalescence. Among them are endangered Egyptian vultures, instantly recognisable by their bright yellow beaks and tousled cream crowns. A colony of the species lives at a waste dump in Delhi's east, drawn by the pungent refuse dumped there by surrounding slaughterhouses and fish markets.

One of their flock was recently returned to the wild by the brothers after being wounded by the string of a kite. Saud says the clinic takes in half a dozen birds each day that are injured after colliding with them. Successful treatment depends on how soon the injured birds are brought to their attention, Saud said, pointing to another bird in obvious pain.

Intranasal flu vax shows promise

MEDICINE

PARIS: An influenza vaccine, constructed with nanoparticles that enhance immune response, and administered through the nose, offers strong protection against different influenza virus strains, finds a new study.

The intranasal vaccine contributed to multifaceted immune responses, leading to robust cross-protection against influenza in mice, indicates the study published in the journal ACS Applied Materials & Interfaces.

"Nanoparticle platforms have shown intriguing characteristics and great potentials in the development of next-generation cross-protective influenza vaccines," said researchers Chunhong Dong from Georgia State University.

The vaccine consists of PEI-HA/CpG nanoparticles. PEI (polyethyleneimine), a robust and versatile delivery system, can simultaneously carry antigens (haemagglutinin, HA) that induce an immune response, and adjuvants (CpG) that enhance the body's immune response. These comprehensive immune responses and cross-protection were long-lasting, exhibiting defence from the influenza virus over six months after immunisation.

Intranasal vaccination is an ideal approach for infectious respiratory diseases such as influenza. Seasonal influenza vaccines generally induce narrow immune responses that rapidly decline, which leaves populations vulnerable to novel influenza strains, the study said. Advancements in influenza vaccine technology are needed to protect against a wide range of influenza viruses.

Intranasal vaccination can improve local mucosal immune responses by preventing influenza at the portal of virus entry, it added. In the influenza virus, HA is a protein that plays a crucial role in the early stages of virus infection.

Artist Bhaghya Babu is the creator of the introductory animation in Malayalam film, Bro Daddy, starring Mohanlal and Prithviraj Sukumaran

ANILA KURIAN

IN 2019, when Malayalam film Lucifer was released, webcomic artist, illustrator and designer Bhaghya Babu designed a comic with a dialogue from the movie. While it got a lot of traction online, the director of the film, Prithviraj Sukumaran, took notice of her work. With his latest release on Disney+ Hotstar called Bro Daddy, starring Mohanlal and Sukumaran himself, he approached Babu to draw his introductory scene.

Speaking to CE, the Kochi artist based in Benglauru says this is her first film work. "I was approached about three months ago and the next thing I knew was that I was buried in work with no social life. But that's mostly on me!"

The introductory scene of the film brings alive the characters and draws a backstory to lead to the present time. "Sukumaran and I spent a good amount of time finalising the work. He was there with me throughout the process. I used to come up with ideas, storyboards and frames, run them by him and he'd help me with the dialogues to go with the required creatives. He was very receptive to the ideas," she says.

Earlier this week, the actor-director took his Instagram page highlighting Babu's work for the movie. To this, she says, "Normally in movie industries, no one credits the animators, VFX team or pretty much anyone working in the back-end. In this case, Prithiviraj was nice enough to give credits to everyone even during his interviews or any opportunity he got. It was refreshing to see that, especially because it's my first project like this."

Babu started working on comics when she was studying at Srishti Institute of Art, Design and Technology. "I started working for a company after but I used to draw for myself and post on social media. Hailing from Kerala, my comics are mostly about debunking the myths and stereotypes people have about Keralites. I try to address that with my comics," says Babu, who regularly participates in the city flee markets and Comic-Con events.

Since 2019, she's been freelancing full-time and has worked with well-known companies like Kingfisher, Rapido and more. "I have a lot of things planned for this year but my immediate plan is to work on my new line of merchandise. I want to focus more on hats, T-shirts, planners, pet accessories and more. Apart from these, I'm keeping myself busy with other projects," says Babu, who is also work-ing on transitioning to videos instead of images due to the change in trend on Instagram.

Desi Twist

Catching the current trend of solving 'Wordle', Bengaluru-based developers have created a Kannada version of the puzzle

SANATH PRASAD

EVERYTHING that is international, gets its own desi twist. And obviously, word game Wordle has not escaped this trend. Thanks to Bengaluru-based Amogha Udupa and Lalith Kumar – students of Masters in Computer Science in New York – who have now come up with a Kannada version of Wordle, called Wordalla. The duo went live during the first week of January and garnered over 2,000 users on the launch day. The concept of the game remains the same, however, it comes with some interesting twists.

According to Udupa, Wordalla is based on the clone of Wordle called 'Not Wordle' developed by Hannah Park. The local version can be used with a Kannada keyboard and validation of Kannada letters. "The biggest challenge was to integrate the Kannada language keyboard, after which we worked on changing the colour codes. It was also difficult because Kannada has more alphabets and different combinations of consonants," says Udupa, adding, "We came up with Wordalla for the love of Kannada. Right now college isn't so hectic, however, as we get busier, we may not have time to invest in Wordalla."

Udupa explains that the word validation was done using the words from alar.ink dictionary. Initially, the duo picked some words from the dictionary, but it was complex to solve. "I requested my mother later to share some easy words. Now we have at least 30 words that can sustain us for a while. Since Kannada has combinations of consonants and vowels in each letter, I added a new colour (blue) to indicate that the consonant is in the correct position," says Udupa.

Upon requests on Twitter, the developers also tweaked certain features of the game by including a four-letter Wordle, which is different from the original one that is available as a five-letter Wordle. Currently, the user base hovers between 1,600 and 1,700 a day with at least 20 per cent of the users from the USA and the rest from India. "The user base will probably remain stagnant over time. But as the craze for Wordle reduces, the users will stop using them. The trend is always temporary and will dilute over a period of time," says a practical Udupa.

COLOUR CODES

FOR VOWELS

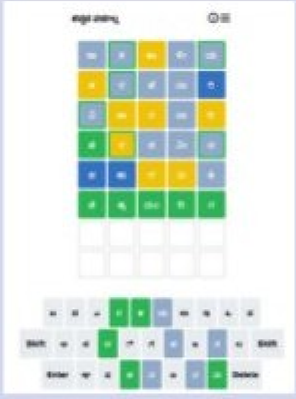
There are separate indications for vowels and consonants. Correctness of vowels is indicated by the border colour; the green border indicates that the vowel is in the right place.

FOR THE CONSONANTS

YELLOW: The consonant appears somewhere in the word but not in that spot

BLUE: The consonant is in the correct place but the consonant conjunct or the vowel is incorrect

GREEN: The consonant is in the correct place and the consonant conjunct + vowel is correct



WORDLE'S AVATARS

TAMIL WORDLE: Allows you to play Wordle in Tamil

BRDL: A Wordle for guessing birds

SWEARDLE: A Wordle for guessing informal words

DORDLE: Allows you guess two words a day

ARWORDLE: Allows you to play Wordle in Arabic

WORDLE UNLIMITED: Gives you unlimited words to guess in a day

Renowned cardiac surgeon and chief of cardiothoracic vascular sciences, Fortis Hospitals, Bengaluru, Dr Vivek Jawali is involved in mushaira, poetry, jazz, and skydiving

BALA CHAUHAN

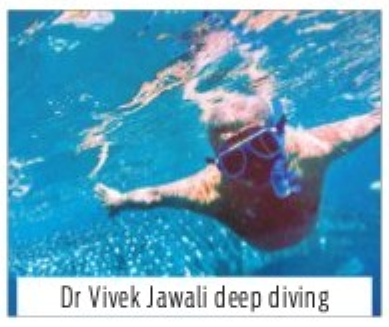
HE is extremely well-known and well-trusted when it comes to matters of heart ailments and complex life-giving surgeries.

While Dr Vivek Jawali, chairman, cardiac sciences and the executive council of Fortis Hospitals, Bengaluru, needs no introduction in the medical fraternity, the other aspect of his persona, of 'swimming with the sharks' in the deep seas across the globe, trekking in the Himalayas, love for poetry, Urdu shayari, music and fitness is hidden behind his famed forceps.

"Without thrill, life becomes boring. During the course of my life, I ended up liking so many things — adventure, poetry, music, fitness that help me balance my professional life. It all goes back to my early childhood. I grew up on a rural farm on the Karnataka-Maharashtra border. Cycling and swimming were necessities of life and I had to be agile to do both. There are scant reflections of Mowgli from Jungle Book in how I grew up," recounted Jawali. His love for swimming made him take up professional deep-sea diving.

He is a certified deep-sea diver and swam with whale sharks in various seas across the globe. He particularly recounted swimming with whale sharks in Oslob on the southern tip of Cebu Island, Philippines. "It's a terrific adventure activity and I learned the trick of cheap but high-quality underwater photography by using my humble iPhone in a plastic case," he narrates.

From deep-sea diving to trekking in the Himalayas, which Jawali called "addictive", the cardiac surgeon's life and education have many firsts and surprises. "As a student, my core was literary. My first love was theatre and reading. I was part of the famous Prithvi theatre in Mumbai and used to hang out with people who are now institutions. I was pushed into science, which I never liked. Once I was pushed into it the only way forward was to study medicine," he says.



Dr Vivek Jawali deep diving

Jawali's involvement with the English poetry and Urdu shayari (online) groups in Bengaluru, passion for reading, listening to music ranging from jazz to classics has been quite a stress buster.

"Taking life as it comes while working hard on everything and learning to discard the excess baggage has added to my balance. Whatever we do, the end objective is happiness and happiness is a product of striking a balance between professional and personal life," says the famed cardiac surgeon.

Regarding fitness, he says, it is a prerequisite to experiencing happiness notwithstanding the stress at work. "Fitness is physical, mental and emotional. I gave up fancy gymming long ago as I felt it exposed me to unnecessary injuries. My formula has been doing one aerobic exercise in the form of nature walks at the famous Lalbagh, which is my backyard and it offers me an exciting opportunity to pack 10,000 scenic steps with chirping birds in a short time. I find it less time-consuming and more exciting than golf," says Jawali. He follows his walks with simple 20 minutes of core tightening floor exercises and yoga ensemble for stretches. His multifaceted life and experiences have also made him open to learning from various sources. "Whatever we do, our quest should be to discover the city of joy in you," he laughs.

GORUMITULU

INGREDIENTS

- Maida or wheat flour: 2 cups
- Ghee
- Bombay rava: 1/2 cup
- Salt: 1/2 tsp
- Cardamom powder: 1 tsp
- Jaggery: 1 cup

METHOD

- In a bowl, mix flour, rava and salt. Add a pinch of baking soda. Add 2-3 tsp of hot ghee, add water and make a dough.
- Make small rolls. Place over a clean comb and roll with a rolling pin. Peel them off from one side and fold. Heat oil and fry them.
- Melt jaggery in a pan with 1/4 cup water. Add cardamom powder. Add the jaggery syrup to gorumitulu and let it dry. — Mercy Vincent, Chennai

FIT BIT

UTTHITA JANU SIRSHASANA

(STANDING HEAD BETWEEN KNEES POSE)

It is a standing forward fold, which is considered good for soothing the nervous system. It is closely related to Padahastasana (hands to feet pose), with the difference usually seen in the hand positioning. It is considered an important posture because, in addition to the physical stretching and strengthening benefits, it balances the body. This is due to the combined elements of activity and passivity in the body once it is folded into the pose. It activates Swadhisthana (Sacral) Chakra, and helps to block fear, especially the fear of death. Opening this chakra can boost creativity, desire and confidence. It releases any tension or tightness present in the muscles and tissues around the spine. It increases the flexibility of the spine and makes it strong.

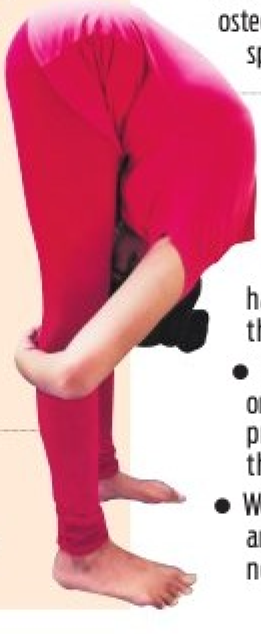
STEPS

- Stand with the feet shoulder width apart, arms on the sides.
- Inhale and raise the arms in front of the body, level with the chest.
- Exhale and bend forward from the hips, taking the arms around the outside of the legs. Either grasp one wrist or clasp the hands behind the calves.
- Now bring the head towards the knees by slightly bending the elbows and using the strength of the arm muscles to achieve this.
- Keep your legs straight without any strain.
- In the final position, the trunk rests against the thighs and the wrists or elbows are held behind the lower legs.
- Retain the breath outside while holding this final position as long as you are comfortable.
- While releasing the hands, inhale slowly and raise the body with the arms stretched out in front.
- Exhale while lowering the arms to the starting position. Practice five rounds.

— by N Elumalai, PhD scholar (Yoga Science) at Meenakshi Academy of Higher Education & Research, Chennai

BENEFITS

- Stimulates the pancreas.
- Relaxes hip joints, stretches hamstring muscles, massages spinal nerves and revitalises the brain.
- Relieves stiffness of your spine, neck, and back.
- Eliminates fatigue. Reduces stress, anxiety and tension.
- The blood circulation in the head is improved; problems like headaches and insomnia get rid of.
- Stomach is massaged, thus improving digestion.
- Keeps the liver and kidneys healthy.
- Helps in hypertension and stimulates asthma, osteoporosis, sinusitis, and spleen.



LIMITATIONS

- People suffering from back pain, sciatica and pain in the thighs or hamstrings, avoid this asana.
- If you have glaucoma or a different retinal problem, do not perform this asana.
- Women during pregnancy and menstruation should not try this asana.

LOSING MY COVIRGINITY

OPEN SPACE
Gulnaar Mirza
Associate Editor
gulnaar@newindianexpress.com

IT happened finally. After almost two years of playing cat-and-mouse and putting up a brave front, it caught me unawares, possibly in a moment of weakness, with my mask down. And so I joined the vast sickly multitude who had tested Covid-positive. With a cough and a sneeze, I lost my covirginity.

Over the months, I had acquired a sniggering overconfidence. Thrice, the virus had come dangerously close, within breathing distance, actually. During the fag end of the first wave, the better half tested positive and as the lone caretaker, I was in and out of the isolation room, even sharing lunch, dinner and movies, thumbing my nose at the virus.

Then came a cluster outbreak at the workplace during the second wave, and as I staved off the overtures of the deadly Delta, I realised that it had entered my home again, through the backdoor. Again I fought it, in mask, gloves and PPE kit, and slipped out of the clutches of corona, which sadly was potent enough to snuff out a life.

But this time, just like that, it happened. I didn't 'take to Twitter' to announce my new status (not much following there) or shout from the Facebook rooftops - though it's supposed to be the newest and most accepted thing to do. Post a contemplative picture of oneself, with some artfully arranged cerebral book titles, a half-eaten bowl of fruits, steaming soup and closed door, symbolic of being in splendid isolation, and punch in the three words: 'I am positive'. And lo! The outpouring of heartfelt sympathy and wishes all but floods the post.

That's also the difference between the first, second and third Covid waves. A shroud of secrecy and shame marked the first wave: an infected person became a pariah and the authorities rushed in to board up homes with ugly metal sheets. There was fear and rumour in the still, silent, lockdown air, so any positive status was best kept under wraps. The second wave was worse - keep your status hidden and you could need a blaring ambulance. There was ready help too, in the form of wholesome food, groceries at the doorstep, oxygen cylinders and even biers.

The third wave is all about flaunting your positivity. Omicron is proving to be corona-lite, a social virus, and is visiting every home, camouflaged as the flu. I felt shortchanged, there was nothing special about my sniffling. Neither was anyone worried if my oxymeter reading was going up or down. Covid-fatigue, I guess. I stayed in my home ward, catching up on some reading, but by the end of the second day, I was done with isolation. I threw open the door and strode out. Pumped up with antibodies and a husky Rani Mukherjee tone, I was all ready to get on with life.

Expats in Bengaluru are ready to celebrate Chinese New Year and the 'Year of the Tiger' today with fun, food and laughter

MONIKA MONALISA

JOONIE Tan, a pastry artist from the city, makes sure she flies to Malaysia, where she hails from, to celebrate the Lunar New Year with her family. every year. But today, on New Year, she has had to stay put for obvious reasons related to the pandemic. "This year with a new baby and Covid restrictions, I am spending it right here. Since most of my family is not around, I will have a small celebration," says Tan, who is planning to have an intimate gathering with her husband and friends.

For Tan, the best part about the festival is a reunion dinner, usually on the eve of the Chinese New Year at her grandma's place. "Though my grandma is no more, it still continues to be a family tradition. My mom, aunts and cousins will be cooking up a storm. Just thinking about it makes me miss home," says Tan.

The celebrations during the last two years have been low-key due to the pandemic. And for some, it continues to be so. Candice, a Malaysian with Chinese lineage, was planning to go back to Malaysia to celebrate it with her family but there are currently no flights "Lion dance is big in the Chinese community. It is especially important this year since it's the 'Year of the Tiger'," says the chef at Chinita, a Mexican restaurant and Candice's Gourmet Sandwiches. "We had actually made a lion's head with paper mache and wires but could not finish it entirely," says Candice, who is going to video call her family in Malaysia and plans to compensate by cooking up a reunion feast this week.

Recalling the traditions, Candice says, "On the first day of Chinese New Year, the older married folk give a red envelope called Hongbao, containing money to young or unmarried people. The younger ones wish the elders by saying 'Kung Hei Fat Choy' which means 'Wishing you a prosperous New Year' or 'San Nin Fai Lok' which translates to 'Happy New Year'. It is like Christmas but we give money in the red envelope," laughs Candice. While food plays a very important part in the celebration, each dish symbolises something different. "For example, mandarin oranges symbolise gold and prosperity coming into your home," explains Candice.

For those wanting to experience the celebrations, Shangri-La Bengaluru is hosting a New Years special brunch. "The brunch on Feb 1 and 2 features an array of quintessential delights, including Cantonese Roasted Duck, Crispy Chicken with Five-spice Salt, Guangzhou Style Crispy Chicken, Wok-tossed Lamb Dry Chilli and Cumin, Prawn in XO Sauce, assorted crystal dumplings, sweet Yum cha endings and more," says Ashok Bandaru, executive chef, about the brunch priced at ₹2,600 ++. Along with the extensive menu, they have also crafted a series of gift hampers filled with Oriental treats and goodies.

For many of Chinese origin, who have been living in India for long, the New Year is also about connecting with their roots. "Every year my family and others from our community go to a resort to celebrate. But these days many people from my community are travelling to Kolkata where our ancestors had initially settled," says Daniel Mao, a hair stylist, who plans to stay in the city with his family for the New Year.

ALL ABOUT CHINESE NEW YEAR

Also called the Spring Festival, it usually falls between January 20 and February 21, depending on the cycle of the moon

This year, it is on Tuesday (February 1) and the celebrations will conclude on February 15 with the Lantern Festival

2022 is the 'Year of the Tiger'. People born in the years of the tiger are said to have the animal's traits – they are vigorous, ambitious, daring, courageous, enthusiastic and self-confident

Families clean and decorate their homes. They start the festival by praying to their ancestors and offering them food/clothes

The New Year's Eve Dinner or the Reunion Dinner is an important event. Some of the popular dishes that are part of the feast are spring rolls, dumplings, noodles, steamed fish/chicken, Nian Gao (rice cake/New Year cake), vegetarian stir-fry and the hot pot, among other delicacies

People dress in new clothes, which signifies leaving behind misfortunes and welcoming a new start

Elders gift Red Pockets (Hongbao) to youngsters on the day. These pockets contain money and the kids look forward to receiving these

On the day, all Chinese restaurants are shut. The owners host a dinner for their staff a day before

Supporting musicians during the pandemic

TUNING IN
Bindu & Ambi Subramaniam

(The authors run SaPa - the Subramaniam Academy of Performing Arts)

SINCE March 2020, we've spent our time going in and out of lockdown. For performing musicians, this means that any scheduled live show could immediately get cancelled for safety reasons. While this is in our best interests, it can also be frustrating since many local and upcoming musicians depend on them as a source of income. So, while we continue to do our best to navigate uncertainty, here are some ways in which you can support your favourite local musicians:

Buy their merchandise directly from their website

Many bands sell t-shirts, hoodies, pop sockets, and phone covers. When we buy directly from them (and not on third-party online stores), we ensure that they get all the revenue.

Attend online ticketed shows (and not just the paid ones)

Many musicians are still holding paid live performances, but unfortunately, in the third year of the pandemic, audiences are no longer as excited to attend a Zoom concert. However, these are still ways for artistes to earn a living, so it's a good idea to participate and share screenshots from the experience on social media to boost their presence online.

Check if they conduct classes or offer courses, and buy them

Many artistes earn by teaching their music. Whether your favourite musician teaches singing, instruments, songwriting, or production, this is a great opportunity to dive into something new while also helping them earn.

If you're able, donate to their causes or funds

If you're financially able to support artistes, check if they have online fundraisers (typically, they list them on the bio of their social media pages). If you don't have one specific artiste in mind, there are many crowdfunded accounts dedicated to supporting musicians that you can donate to as well.

Share their music within your circles

If you're able to offer your financial support, you can still find ways to boost your favourite artistes. Share their music on your social media profile, as it can help build their network (which will hopefully translate to a rise in sales).

If you have a budding musician in your life, they can always use an emotional pick-me-up. Send a card or a care package to let them know that you are there for them. This is the best time to show artist how much you appreciate their music.

We all turn to the arts - through the music we listen to, the art we keep in our homes, the books we read, and more. Until it's safe to move around freely again, let's do all we can to support the artistes we love.

CHANGE FOR ME

LOVEOLOGY
Mahesh Natarajan

(The author is a counsellor with InnerSight)

IT is the rare relationship that doesn't seek to change one's partner in some way or the other.

Sometimes, it is in small, simple ways such as how you squeeze toothpaste out of a tube – does your partner squeeze it at random, leaving the tube lumpy and misshapen, or is there a smooth squeezing out from one end so it is all neat and tidy, and one can squeeze out every last bit of the toothpaste? The influences can be many – does one leave the used dishes as they are in the sink, or wet them fully? Does one squeegee out the bathroom floor after using it so it is relatively dry for the partner to use, and how about the toilet seat or the used towel, or the hair in the drain? What about the coffee grounds? How about waste segregation?

At other times, it can be a lot more significant. Does one save money for future asset building, or spend it in creating memorable experiences in the here and now? Do you look for secure employment, or look for work in what you like to do and seek security in other ways? How do you interact with one another's families or friends? Do you insist that the partner speaks as often to your parents or others important to you as you yourself do, and do you reciprocate the same, or do you follow their lead with respect to their people and expect they will follow yours with your people?

Some changes are taken up easily and willingly, the common sense of the new way apparent enough for it to be readily adopted. Other pushes for changes though are not easy at all, and met with much resistance - one's values are in clash with another. Each approach seems to have its value, and there is little to convince one over the other. What does it matter if one prefers a ceramic cup for their filter coffee, while another likes a traditional dabara-tumbler set, and a third prefers it in a takeaway heat-retaining thermos cup, even when they are at home? You could frown at each other for not valuing convenience versus convention versus comfort, but will probably let each other live with their choices.

The challenge is when one asks you to change not for a better experience for you, but for a better experience for them.

Suppose they say you need to learn to use chopsticks so they won't be embarrassed in front of their friends? Or, look down upon you for enjoying programming in your native language and ask that you watch Russian movies? Or, they keep correcting your grammar so they'll feel better showing you off to their cousins?

When someone wants us to change so we can correct our biases or prejudices, or show us why their way is better value, we might respect it. When they are asking us to just change so they feel better about themselves and their idea of who they should be with, is it worth it?

SATELLITE AND DIGITAL RIGHTS OF GAALIPATA 2 ACQUIRED FOR A HUGE PRICE

Director Yogaraj Bhat's upcoming romantic drama starring Ganesh, Diganth, and Pawan Kumar is currently in post-production

A SHARADHAA

THE much-anticipated romantic drama Gaalipata 2 reunites the blockbuster combo of director Yogaraj Bhat and actors Ganesh and Diganth. They earlier got together to deliver the superhit 2008 film, Gaalipata.

The latest development about the sequel is that the satellite and digital rights of the film have been sold to Zee Kannada, and Zee5, respectively, for a big amount. Gaalipata 2 producer Ramesh Reddy confirmed the news with CE. The film is said to have done a good pre-release business of over ₹ 8 crore including the music rights sold to Aanand Audio.

Apart from Ganesh and Diganth, the multi-starrer also features veteran actor Anant Nag, director-actor Pawan Kumar, Vaibhavi Shandilya, Samyuktha Menon, and Sharmiela Mandre in pivotal roles. With music by Arjun Janya and cinematography by Santhosh Rai Pathaje, Gaalipata 2, made under the Suraj Productions banner, will have an April or a May release, and an official date is expected to be announced soon.

SUDEEP CELEBRATES BIG MILESTONE IN HIS FILM JOURNEY

Sudeep

CE FEATURES

ONE of the most sought-after pan-Indian stars Sudeep took to social media to thank his fans, friends, and family as he completes 26 years as an actor. "Many thanks to each one of you for just about everything. These 26 years have been memorable because of you all. Gratitude and love towards everyone from the film fraternity and media all across. Much love and hugs," Sudeep tweeted.

Congratulatory messages from fans, friends and family poured in, and Sudeep's wife Priya took to Twitter and wrote, "We are immensely proud of the love and respect you have earned for yourself across the world. Many of us continue to take inspiration from your hard work, dedication and passion towards your craft (sic)." She also shared a pic from the silver jubilee celebrations that happened at Burj Khalifa last year. Having spent over 2 decades on the silver screen, Sudeep's career in cinema began in Thayavva (1997) in which he played a pivotal role, and his first film as a lead was in director Sunil Kumar Desai's Sparsha in 2000. The 56-film-old actor's exploits in the other languages, including Hindi, Tamil and Telugu, gave him the much-coveted pan-Indian appeal.

Meanwhile, Sudeep's upcoming film, Vikrant Rona, directed by Anup Bhandari, which was slated for a February 24 release, has been postponed owing to the pandemic-induced restrictions. The film, backed by Shalini Arrts, features Sudeep as a cop, and also stars Nirup Bhandari, Neetha Ashok, and Jacqueline Fernandes in prominent roles.

ARCHANA KOTTIGE PAIRED OPPOSITE CHANDAN SHETTY IN SUJAY SHASTRY NEXT

Archana Kottige

The comedy-drama titled Elra Kaalelyatte Kaala will also feature Mandya Ramesh and Bigg Boss Kannada Season 8 winner, Manju Pavagada in significant roles

CE FEATURES

WE might not have seen much of Archana Kottige on the silver screen so far, but she is undoubtedly one of the busiest actors in Sandalwood right now. Archana is part of almost 17-18 films, which are in different stages of production. She has now signed an interesting project, which marks Sujay Shastry's sophomore directorial venture.

Titled, Elra Kaalelyatte Kaala, the film will have Archana starring opposite rapper, music composer Chandan Shetty, who is turning actor with this project. This comedy-drama, which is based on the element of time, will mark Chandan's first film as a hero, and is set in the 80s and 90s. The makers will officially launch the film on February 3.

Elra Kaalelyatte Kaala will have the sibling duo of Praveen and Pradeep as music composers and Vishwajith Rao in charge of cinematography. Sujay, who made his directorial debut with Gubbi Mele Brahmastra, will also be playing an important role in the film, which has an interesting star cast. Apart from a bunch of newcomers, Elra Kaalelyatte Kaala will also star Bigg Boss Kannada Season 8 winner Manju Pavagada, senior actor Mandya Ramesh in significant characters.

Akshay Kumar wraps up Ram Setu

CE FEATURES

AKSHAY Kumar has wrapped up the shoot of Ram Setu. The film, directed by Abhishek Sharma and co-starring Jacqueline Fernandez and Nushrratt Bharuccha, will release on Diwali this year.

"Here's to the wrap of yet another amazing project #RamSetu," Akshay wrote on social media. "I learned so much during the making of this film, it was like going to school all over again." He shared a video of his cast and crew from the wrap.

Akshay portrays an archeologist in Ram Setu. Chandraprakash Dwivedi, who has helmed Akshay's upcoming Prithviraj, is attached as a creative producer on Ram Setu.

"Inspired by Indian mythology and religion, Ram Setu will be a story based on facts, science and historical heritage," the makers had earlier stated. "The story of the film will showcase strength, bravery, love and the unique values of our country that form its moral and social fabric."

RAJ & DK SET COMEDY-CRIME-THRILLER SERIES GUNS & GULAABS AT NETFLIX

CE FEATURES

RAJ & DK will direct an upcoming series titled Guns & Gulaabs, a comedy-crime-thriller coming on Netflix. The title marks their first directorial venture with the streamer. They had earlier produced Cinema Bandi for the platform.

Guns & Gulaabs is being produced under D2R Films. Inspired by the misfits of the world, the series tells a story of love and innocence, set in a world of crime. It will blend 'the romance of the 90s' with a crime-thriller and splashes of humour. Speaking about the series and their collaboration with Netflix, Raj & DK said, "Netflix has always been a pioneering service offering constantly cutting-edge content. And we are super thrilled to associate with them on our latest venture! Last year, we had a great outing on Netflix with our indie gem, Cinema Bandi. And now we look forward to a larger collaboration on our first Netflix series, Guns & Gulaabs. We are especially thrilled to roll out this wicked genre mash with some of the finest cast and crew from our country." Sharing details on the announcement, Tanya Bami, Series Head, Netflix India, said, "We are delighted to partner with the finest creators Raj Nidimoru & Krishna D.K. for a series, as distinct as their creative voice, Guns and Gulaabs. Bringing their unique storytelling style to Netflix, Raj & DK blend romance, crime and the inimitable humour that's signature to the duo, into Guns & Gulaabs which will captivate audiences in India and across the world."

SS Rajamouli's RRR gets a new release date

CE FEATURES

A week after the makers of RRR revealed that they were planning to release the action spectacle in theatres either on March 18 or April 28, subject to Covid regulations across the nation, a new release date has now been announced. The SS Rajamouli directorial will be hitting screens on March 25, it was announced through the film's official social media accounts. Interestingly, it was announced earlier today that Sivakarthikeyan's Tamil film Don will be releasing in theatres on the same date. Moreover, both films will be distributed by Lyca Productions in Tamil Nadu.

Starring Jr NTR and Ram Charan in the lead roles, the film was set to release in theatres on January 7th but was pushed due to the resurgence of Covid infections and the consequential restrictions that came into place. RRR is produced by DVV Danayya, and the story for the film is by KV Vijayendra Prasad. The music for the project is composed by MM Keeravani with cinematography by KK Senthil Kumar. The film also stars Alia Bhatt, Ajay Devgn, among others in pivotal roles.
